WEATHER INDICATIONS.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., Sept. 9, 1892.

The high area of pressure continues over the eastern portion of the country. There is a low area central over Montana this morning, but it is not well defined and its movement is uncertain. Generally cloudy and rainy weather prevails from Lake Michigan westward. Eleswhere it is generally fair. During the past 24 hours rains have been reported from Montana eastward to the western portion of Pennsylvania and as far south as latitude of 40 degrees. The temperature has changed but slightly, and it will rise today in all sections except the northwest, where it will fall.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity for 36 hours—Fair and slightly warmer.

E. A. HANNER, Observer.

Forecast for Ohio—Fair, except showers at lake stations Saturday or Saturday night; slightly warmer in northern portions; southeasterly winds.

For Indiana—Fair, followed by showers in northern portion Saturday or Sunday night; southerly winds.

For Michigan—Showers; slightly warmer in southeast portion; east to south winds.

For Wisconsin—Showers; warmer tonight; cooler by Sunday morning; southerly winds.

For Illinois—Showers in northern portion; southerly winds.

Turn to the right medicine, if you're a weak or ailing woman. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If you're overworked or "rundown," it builds you up; if you're afflicted with any of the distressing derangements and disorders peculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It improves digestion, invigorates the system, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, produces refreshing sleep, and restores flesh and strength. In the cure of all functional disturbances, weaknesses, and irregularities, it's guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money is refunded. It does all that's claimed for it, or it couldn't be sold in this way.

That's the peculiar plan all Dr. Pierce's medicines are sold on.

It is a legitimate medicine—not a beverage. Contains no alcohol to inebriate; no syrup or sugar to sour or ferment in the stomach and cause distress. As peculiar in its marvelous, remedial results as in its composition.

New York, Sept. 9.—Arrived—Steamers Brittannic from Liverpool, passed Sandy Hook. She signals all well. Steamer Wieland from Hamburg, passed Sandy Hook this morning and anchored in the lower bay.

At 8:05 a. m. the Wieland and Normannia were flying yellow flags. Steamer Joseph John from Hamburg, August 20, arrived this morning.

Quarantine, Sept. 9.—The steamer Wieland arrived in the lower bay and anchored at 7:15 this morning. She is flying the yellow flag. While this does not necessarily mean that she has cholera on board, yet the health authorities believe that the scourge appeared during the voyage.

The Normannia is also flying the yellow flag this morning. In her case it means more sickness on board. The Wieland is reported to have only cabin passengers.

New York, Sept. 9.—Abram S. Hewitt has generously offered the use of Plum island to the health authorities if they can use it for quarantine purposes in order to relieve the dangerous detention of passengers on infected ships.

New York, Sept. 9.—Agent Schwab, of the North German Lloyd line, received this morning a cablegram from Bremen as follows:

Health condition unchanged; no cholera here; no suspicious cases; everything well."

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The nationalist congress, which was to have been held at Mannheim, has been postponed on account of the cholera.

London, Sept. 9.—A patient died in the Kensington infirmary to-day from cholera morbus. There is no suspicion that it was anything else.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—The Spanish authorities have ordered all vessels arriving from London to be subjected to quarantine.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—Throughout Russia on Tuesday there were, according to official reports, 3,761 new cases and 1,431 deaths against 4,604 new cases and 2,540 deaths on Monday. This is a decrease from Monday of 843 new cases and 1,109 deaths. In St. Petersburg Thursday the new cases numbered 103, 16 less than on Wednesday, and 31 deaths, a decrease of eight. Of the patients in the hospitals of St. Petersburg 82 were discharged yesterday as cured.

Havre, Sept. 9.—The sum of $5,000 francs have been subscribed in two days for the relief of cholera victims and those who have been thrown out of employment in consequence of the obstruction of business on account of the quarantine.

New York, Sept. 9.—The health department's 2 p. m. bulletin says: "No cases of cholera in the city yet."

New York, Sept. 9.—The Wieland, which arrived this morning at quarantine, sailed from Cuxhaven on August 28 with 157 cabin passengers. No steerage passengers were carried. Among the passengers are John C. H. Agar, Consul Henry D. Jewett, Dr. B. F. Becker, Miss Maria Hinkel, Dr. Wm. Rausch and Dr. W. A. Ford.

The Stonington arrived from New Haven this morning. She will be tied up to her dock at pier 36, North river, and the work of cleaning her will be pushed as rapidly as possible. When this work is finished she will be turned over to the Hamburg steamship people who will take her to their Hoboken docks, where she will be fitted out and provisioned. It is not expected that she will be in condition to receive the Normannia's passengers until to-morrow.

Quarantine, Sept. 9.—10 a. m.—Dr. Jenkins returned from a visit to the Guion line steamer Wyoming, which arrived here Wednesday night. Two children were dead on board the vessel last night.

The names of the children who died on the Wyoming are Elias Pepper, Persian, aged 3 months, and Victoria Eleaka, Persian, aged 6 months.

At 11 a. m. it is reported that two children and their mother are sick on the Wyoming with symptoms of cholera. Dr. Jenkins says all those who have been in contact with them will be sent to Hoffman island. The United States ship New Hampshire has been towed to the Hamburg dock at Hoboken, where she will be fitted up at once for service at lower Quarantine.

The mother and her two children reported sick with symptoms of cholera on the Wyoming left Russia three weeks ago.

Three nurses were taken to Swinburne island this morning by Dr. Walser on the tug Manhattan. They wore King's Daughters badges and were from the Presbyterian hospital. Their names could not be obtained.

A JUST APPEAL.

Healthy People on the Normannia Want to Get Ashore.

New York, Sept. 9.—The following letter has been sent to the governor of New York by the committee on sanitation on board the quarantined steamship Normannia:

"To Hon. R. P. Flower, Governor of the State of New York:

"The undersigned, a committee representing the first and second cabin passengers of the steamship Normannia, now in quarantine in the port of New York, respectfully show:

"That as good citizens we cheerfully submit to such detention as may be deemed necessary by sanitary experts for the preservation of the public health, but we hold that while undergoing such necessary detention, we are entitled, at the hands of the authorities, to as much care and protection against infection as any other body of healthy citizens; as any persons innocent of crime and suffering discomfort in the public interest, it is our right to have that discomfort reduced to a minimum, and to this end no expense should be spared or reasonable precautions neglected. But such measures have not been taken, and 500 persons, mostly citizens of the United States, have been exposed to infection to their own danger and the danger of the public. To show this to be true, we submit the following facts:

"We have been detained since 4 o'clock Saturday morning by order of the health officers, and yet during that time no official inspection of the ship or visit to the sick has been made by that officer or any one representing him; no scientific expert or any other aid has been furnished to superintend the disinfection of the ship, but the work has been left entirely to the captain and his crew.

Disinfectants asked for and promised have not been furnished, so that the work of disinfection begun by the ship's officials has been stopped.

"No means have been provided for communication with the health officer, with the result that the sick and the dead have been retained on the ship for an undue time.

Fresh water has not been provided to replace that put on board from the Elbe, although application has been made therefor and the water tanks of the ship have been emptied and cleaned and made ready to receive it.

"We hereby solemnly declare that at this moment there is no illness among the cabin passengers, nor has there been for eight days, nor is there any undue excitement, much less panic amongst them. Can it be possible that the national government, the governor, president and the people of New York will permit 500 of their fellow citizens, all now in good health, to be longer penned up on this ship without proper inspection or any knowledge on the part of any official, federal or state, that the ship has been properly disinfected.

"Therefore we pray that your excellency will put at the disposal of the health officer such competent and expert assistance with every appliance necessary to enable him to at once take charge of this ship and put the same in a perfect sanitary condition and thus relieve us from our present jeopardy.

"Now that you know the truth we venture to hope that you will act promptly. Longer delay in this matter seems to us to approach criminality. We subjoin hereto the report of the passenger committee on sanitation.

All of which is respectfully submitted: J. R. McPherson, of New Jersey; Theodore Heinroth, Julius Lumeberg, Edwin L. Godkin, Robert M. Thompson, A. M. Palmer, J. S. Rosenthal, Dr. F. L. Lange.

"The undersigned sanitary committee appointed by the cabin passengers on board the steamship Normannia, regard it their duty to appeal to public opinion, in view of the following considerations and facts.

"It seems inconceivable that 500 heretofore healthy people should be quarantined on board an infected ship, and that it is impossible to isolate them at a place thus far not infected. They emphasize this point so much more as from all appearances the measures taken to disinfect the Normannia have been incomplete and devoid of that speedy, energetic and systematic mode of proceeding which is necessary to efficiently counteract the damaging influences to which all are exposed.

"In reference to these points, they submit the following facts:

"First—At no time have there been facilities to remove the sick immediately after the onset of the cholera symptoms, even dead bodies having been kept on board for 24 hours and more.

"Second—At no time an official, thorough inspection of the ship has been made, nor have any measures been taken with regard to disinfection except such as were possible, with the insufficient supply of disinfecting material carried on board.

"Third—Disinfecting material has not been furnished promptly in spite of the request of the ship's authorities. Their demand made on Saturday, third, to place on board an official expert to supervise and execute thorough disinfection, has not been complied with.

"Fourth—The water supply of the ship has not been taken care of in the proper way, although by Monday morning the tanks were clean and ready to receive fresh water. The supply of fresh water immediately after the arrival of the ship should have been made a main point of sanitary importance. We are on the fourth day of quarantine. If, therefore, in spite of such a condition of things the passengers should be obliged to remain in quarantine on board the Normannia, the undersigned deem it their duty to demand the execution of such measures under the supervision of official experts as are apt to remove efficiently the danger to which under the given circumstances, the occupants of the ship are constantly exposed.

Signed: Dr. F. Lange, New York city; Dr. E. Gruening, New York city; Dr. V. Sillo, New York city; Dr. W. E. Bongartz, Beverly, Mass.; Dr. E. Beckman, St. Paul, Minn.; Dr. J. E. Blomen, Hopatcong, N. J.

THE MILTON D. WARD.

She Will Be Converted Into a Pest Ship.

Detroit, Sept. 9.—The Detroit board of health yesterday leased the excursion steamer Milton D. Ward for two years, and will convert her into a floating hospital for use in caring for cholera patients or immigrants detained.

It is estimated that it will cost $2,000 per month to maintain the vessel. The railroads in spite of their announcements that they would not ship any more immigrants until quarantine is raised, brought several carloads to Detroit yesterday.

The immigrants were stopped at Windsor, Ont., disinfected and released and were not allowed to cross the border. The disinfection at Windsor was made by the Detroit authorities through the courtesy of the Canadian officials.

CANNOT BURY THE DEAD.

Not Enough Coffins in Hamburg—Terrible State of Affairs.

Hamburg, Sept. 9.—The temperature has been varied between 55 and 60 degrees Fah., and there was a strong breeze. There have been 897 fresh cases in the city to-day, or 19 less than yesterday, 50 less than Tuesday and 82 less than Monday.

This steady decrease has raised hopes that by the end of the week the authorities can truthfully report that the cholera is losing its hold. The number of deaths has been 298, or 4 less than yesterday, 19 less than on Tuesday and 52 less than on Monday. There were 498 burials today, or 131 less than yesterday. The dead-wagons and grave diggers are still far behind the requirements of the city and 450 bodies are piled up this evening in mortuaries and hospitals. In fact all the burials to-day were made from the harbor district, and the rest of the city has been left to keep its dead as best it can. The inadequacy of the dead-wagon service despite the hiring of 50 furniture vans by the authorities yesterday afternoon, is due to the constant desertion of drivers. After a few days' service many of the men refuse to remain on duty for any wages. The fresh recruits barely suffice to replace the old drivers. In the Ohlsdorf cemetery graves cannot be dug as fast as the bodies are brought in, so that last night 30 coffins were left stacked up in the open air.

The stock of coffins at undertakers' shops was exhausted on Monday, and on Tuesday and Wednesday even families in prosperous circumsances have been obliged to bury their dead in rough board boxes. To-day 3,000 coffins were brought to the city from Berlin and Frankfort. Before the week is up, an undertaker said to-day, 16,000 more will have been imported.

Great unrest prevails among the poorer class of people. This is largely due to the closing of factories and shops, which has thrown half of the working population of the city out of employment. Thirty thousand men, who usually work as factory hands, longshoremen, and porters in business houses, are said to be idle. They are without means of earning a living and are condemned to wait at home for the plague to abate before they can work. Their families are in want, according to the reports of the relief committee, living only on black bread or schnapps or inferior beer. In a few days they will not have money enough to buy even this fare. Even where the cholera is comparatively mild, the mortality among children is growing alarmingly in consequence of the lack of proper food for them. Two weeks from now the famine will be among the families of the unemployed, and riot is likely to be added to pestilence.

The bitterness of the working people against the authorities is intensified by the reports from hospitals and mortuaries. The heaping of dead bodies in these institutions, the loading of coffins in drays and vans, and the burial of the poor like so many sheep, without marking or headstone to indicate their names, have excited such horror and hatred against the city government that only a few demagogues are needed to bring out a formidable mob. The Social democrats are active here, as in Berlin, and on posters and in circulars tell the workingmen that the authorities do not care whether the poor live or die. "They let you die like sheep," said a poster in the harbor district, last night, "and cart you off like animals by the load. You are good enough to pile up money for them when all goes well, but when the cholera came they left you and your wives and your children to die."

The Columbus festival will not take place in October, and probably not at all. The schools will not open before November.

A MAMMOTH STRIKE

Is Being Prepared for on the Whole System of the Reading.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—A strike is being prepared for on the whole system of the Reading Railroad company. The strike, if it takes place, will affect the brakemen, the engineers, conductors, and probably operators. The grievance committee which called on President McLeod were instructed to offer the alternative of a strike. The grievances of the employes are that they do not receive a wage in accordance with the rates allowed on other roads. They therefore ask that an increase of 20 per cent. be given and that the working day be reduced by one hour.

WAS M'KINLEY IN IT?

Stormy Scene at the Dayton Meeting.

Some Strong Hints Thrown Out That Everything Was Not on the Square.

Columbus, O., Sept. 9.—The decision of the board to locate the Eastern Insane Asylum at Massillon causes a renewal of the charges made when the law was passed last winter, that it was intended to locate the asylum in Governor McKinley's town, Canton. "Canton and Massillon are only seven miles apart," said a gentleman who tried to secure the asylum for Steubenville. An electric railroad connects them, and I understand that the asylum is to be located between the two cities, so Governor McKinley's town, while that does not appear on the face of matters, has really secured the Eastern Insane Asylum.

There was a stormy scene in the meeting at Dayton where the location was decided upon. It was while Steubenville delegates were presenting their advantages. One of the speakers alluded in a very vague way and humorously to the rumors that the bill intended that the asylum should go to Governor McKinley's home, "but," he added, "we feel sure that this commission will simply secure the best site."

At this Superintendent Richardson, of the Central Insane Asylum here, jumped to his feet and said: "You may think we members of this commission d—d fools, but you can't think us dishonest." Apologies from both sides followed, but the Steubenville people think, in view of the fact that Dr. Richardson is an appointee of Governor McKinley, that his taking umbrage on so slight provocation is somewhat remarkable, to say the least.

JUMPED IN THE MAUMEE

Mr. M. D. Wyle, of Cincinnati, Takes a Bath,

At the Foot of Monroe Street, With His Clothes On and is Pulled Out by Street Car Employes.

A man, well dressed and of good appearance, was standing quietly on the river front at the foot of Monroe street early this morning when all of a sudden he gave a whoop and jumped into the water.

He made no effort to save himself, and had it not been for the efforts of some employes at the street car power house he would have drowned.

He was finally pulled out and taken to the police station by Officer Flanigan for save keeping.

The chief of police had a talk with him and learned that he was Mr. M. D. Wyle, of Cincinnati.

When asked how he came to take a voluntary ducking he answered that he didn't know.

Was it a desire to suicide or too much whisky? asked the chief.

A little of both, answered the shivering man.

Mr. Wyle will be hung up in the police station to dry, after which his case will be looked into.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 9.—Wm. E. Call, treasurer of the Knights of Pythias, of this city, was arrested last evening on a charge of embezzlement. It is said that he is about $700 short in his accounts with the organization.

TO GO TO RUSSIA.

Indianapolis, Sept. 9.—A special from Bloomington, Ind., announces that Ernest Huffcutt, of that place, has been appointed secretary of legation at St. Petersburg, by United States Minister White.

NEW BICYCLE WORKS

To Be Located in Auburndale by Toledoans,

Who Have Secured a New Patent and Who Will Put Up the Capital—Location Secured.

The location for new bicycle works has been secured in Auburndale, a short distance from the wagon works.

L. S. Baumgardner and J. Burkhardt are the two chiefly interested.

The capital stock will be $0,000, and Mr. Baumgardner said to a Bee this morning that the site for the works had already been selected and secured.

A young man living at the wagon works is the patentee of several important improvements, and those who know the inside say it will be a bonanza.

The company has not yet been organized, but will probably be this week.

REFUSED TO ACCEPT.

Panama, via Galveston, Sept. 9.—A telegram from Bogota announces the refusal of the senate to accept the resignation of Dr. Don Rafael Nunez as president of the republic of Columbia.

STOLE A COLONIST.

A Plan to Capture the Kidnappers Failed.

Havana, Sept. 9.—Dispatches from Matanzas say that on August 30 Senor Vega, a colonist of the "Ne[illegible]" estate, was kidnapped by five mounted and armed men who led him to the woods and demanded that he should pay $1,000 for his liberty.

The prisoner, under threats of vengeance in the event of his playing false, was released on his promise to procure the sum and to return with it to the bandits. Senor Vega informed the authorities of his adventure and he was instructed to go back where the bandits were waiting and to allay their suspicions so that a force of soldiers who would be secretly dispatched to the scene could surprise and capture the outlaws. He provided himself with the money required and, arriving at the bandits' rendezvous, was engaged in counting out the ransom when the outlaws discovered the approaching guards and fled. The guards fired on them and pursued them for some distance but all succeeded in making their escape. It is said that the famous Matagis and the not less famous Rodriguez were among the bandits.

KILLED HIS BRIDE.

A Pittsburg Artist Murders His Newly Made Wife.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.—Frank Garvin, artist, employed by the Commercial-Gazette, shot and instantly killed his bride of a few days at their residence on Avery street, Allegheny City, just before noon today.

Mrs. Garvin, formerly Cora Redpath, was for a number of years a trapeze actress with Barnum's show and was widely known. She was about 20 years of age. Her father, Homer Redpath, recently removed his family to Chicago, where they now reside.

BOUND FOR THE NORTH.

Corbett and His Party Leave New Orleans.

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—Corbett left the city at an early hour this morning on a special train, accompanied by Billy Delaney and the other trainers and seconds, and goes direct to Birmingham where he is to appear to-night. All the sports have left town and the city is settling down to quiet again.

CONVICTS PARDONED.

Columbus, O., Sept. 9.—The board of penitentiary managers paroled three young Summit county convicts who were sent up August 13, 1891, for grand larceny. They were Otto Schoendure, Frederick Roberts and Frank Young. Other paroles granted were: George Kihr, received from Cleveland, December 20, 1890, three years, petit larceny; H. D. Downing, Huron county, received from Norwalk, December 31, 1890, three years, horse stealing.

A CARPENTER'S FORTUNE.

Springfield, O., Sept. 9.—John Woods, a carpenter, has come into a fortune estimated at $200,000, part of an estate in Ireland, which he has been spending years in trying to get. He sent $30,000 of the money home here to his wife today and it was deposited in a bank. He also sent a brief letter saying that Mrs. O'Shea-[illegible] was interested in the same estate.

THE EBERSOLE CASE REVIVED.

Dalton, O., Sept. 9.—The Ada Ebersole case was revived by the sheriff being here to summon Mrs. Weimer, the mother, and Aquilla Maxwell, lover of the girl. They are to appear before the grand jury which is in session. About two months ago the stepfather, Henry R. Weimer, was arrested for the crime, but at the preliminary hearing he was acquitted.

LOCOMOTIVES COLLIDE.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—A Lehigh Valley switch engine, carrying five employes, collided with a passenger engine at Van Rensselaer street this morning. Brakeman Tersman was caught between the engine and tender and terribly crushed. His left leg has been amputated and his recovery is doubtful. Three others were severely injured. The engines were badly damaged.

SUES FOR DAMAGES.

Nyack, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Thomas Harrington, of Brooklyn, has begun suit against the president of Nyack village, claiming $5,000 damages for the death of his brother, John J., who was burned to death in the Nyack lockup a few months ago.

HE MAY BE DEAD.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 9.—Rev. C. G. Snepp, formerly curate of St. Mark's church, left here for Rochester on July 25 and is known to have arrived safely at Niagara Falls, but nothing further has been heard of him. His trunk was checked to Rochester where it lies unclaimed. It is feared that he has been the victim of foul play.

STRIKE SPREADING.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 9.—The strike fever has reached here. This morning every mill in the city is closed. One thousand men struck for ten hours a day at the present pay. They have been working 12 hours. All saloons have been closed by the mayor.

RIVAL CONFERENCES.

Findlay, O., Sept. 9.—The sessions of the two rival bodies claiming to be the legal Ohio conference of the Evangelical association have opened here. The majority, or Esher adherents, having secured possession of the church in this city, are holding their sessions therein. Bishop S. C. Breyfogel, of Reading, Pa., is presiding at the latter conference.

CHAMPION CORBETT.

Baltimore, Sept. 9.—Tunis F. Dean, of Harris Academy of Music, this morning received a telegram from Champion James Corbett stating that he would appear at the academy next Tuesday night. He will box three rounds with Daley or one of his partners.

THUNDER STORMS.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—A number of disastrous thunder storms have been reported from various parts of Spain recently. Several persons have been killed by lightning, while damage has been done to crops in the province of Grenada.

SUIT FOR $10,000 DAMAGES.

Urbana, O., Sept. 9.—Thomas W. Field began suit to-day against the Pan Handle railroad for $10,000 damages. He was injured at St. Paris in April last, while coupling cars, losing a leg and arm.

ORIGIN OF MEN OF GENIUS.

Christopher Columbus was the son of a weaver, and also a weaver himself. Cervantes was a common soldier. Homer was the son of a farmer. Demosthenes was the son of a cutler. Oliver Cromwell was the son of a brewer. Franklin was a journeyman printer and son of a tallow chandler and soap boiler. Daniel Defoe was a hosier and a son of a butcher. Cardinal Wolsey was the son of a butcher. Lucien was the son of a maker of statuary. Virgil was the son of a potter. Horace was the son of a shopkeeper. Shakespeare was the son of a wood stapler. Milton was the son of a money scrivener. Pope was the son of a merchant. Robert Burns was the son of a plowman in Ayreshire.—Kansas City Journal.

SPARKING IN THE MOONLIGHT.

The scene was not a thousand miles from Fargo. As they sat on the steps on a moonlight evening he claimed the right to a kiss for every shooter star. She at first demurred, as became an honest maiden, but finally yielded, as usual. She was even so accommodating as to call his attention to the flying meteors that were about to escape his attention, and got to "calling" him on lightning bugs, and at last got him down to steady work on the light of a lantern that a switchman was swinging about in the Northern Pacific yards in the distance, where the boys were making up trains. Fargo girls are up with the times.—Fargo Republican.

IT'S THE CHILDREN

Who Are Out in Force at the Fair Grounds To-Day.

Races Attracting Considerable Attention.

Awards Made in the Ornamental Needle Work Department—Notes of the Exhibits.

The beautiful weather yesterday afternoon, augumented largely the crowds that had come out in the morning, and at 4 o'clock the throng was estimated at 25,000.

There were fully that number present at 11 o'clock this morning, there being about 10,000 children here.

To many people Children's day is the best of the whole week, and it is a good time to study the possibilities and characteristics of the coming generation. Here is the child of wealth side by side—almost hand in hand—with the offspring of poverty. This is the day, when the mother, whose pleasures are few, may bring her little ones, no matter how unruly or numerous they may be—without fear of sneers of the fussy old maids or grumblings of cynical old bachelors, whose knowledge of the way in which children can be successfully managed, the parents of dozens of them, can never hope to acquire.

Nobody can growl about baby buggies today, for the babies are monarch of all they survey, and their enemies had better stay off the grounds. That they have done so, is evident, for everybody is good natured this morning, and the babies might scream themselves hoarse without bringing a frown to the placid brows of the multitudes.

At noon occurred the great animal parade, and it was a mammoth show, witnessed by thousands. The animals exhibited this year are very fine, and there is a large number of them.

Saturday is generally moving day at a fair, but contrary to all precedents, tomorrow will be the biggest day of the week at the exposition, when the big bicycle races take place. The champion of the world will be here, and while Toledo cyclers do not exactly expect to distance him, they have every reason for believing they will hold their own, as there are some first-class riders among them. Saturday will be the great day undoubtedly, and everybody is anticipating a good time.

The Cadets Use Gendron Wheels.

The finest display at the exposition, both in detail and effect, is the Gendron exhibit. The Cadets' famous drill was made on Gendron wheels and was a theme of praise. A wheel that will stand military use must be a good one. The wheels are light, strong, well-made and durable. An invitation is extended to all to call at the factory, corner Superior and Orange streets.

The Gendron Iron Wheel Company.

The Gendron Iron Wheel company manufactures bicycles, tricycles, goat sulkies, toy barrows, baby carriages, doll cabs, reed furniture, bamboo novelties and other novelties.

The Gendron safeties used by the Toledo Cadets are famous for their durability and various good points.

The manufactory is an industry of which Toledo is proud, as its goods can always be relied upon.

You can always buy their goods cheapest at the factory, 518 Superior street, where all are cordially invited to call.

A Gendron safety is a sure cure for all aches and pains, nervousness, etc.

This wheel has stood the test of military use, with the approved commendation of every member of the Toledo Cadets.

Buy a Gendron wheel and save money.

Do not fail to call upon them when you need anything in their line. Satisfaction is assured.

Yesterday's Races.

There was an immense attendance at the races and the various events were replete with good features. The only thing that marred the day's racing was in the running race when Heloise, the favorite and winner of the previous heat, was left at the post. Billie W., the horse that gave all the trouble, got away several lengths ahead and won easily, though Heloise beat him both yesterday and the day before out of sight.

The track, notwithstanding the rain of the morning and night before, was in fairly good condition and excellent time was made in all the events.

Free-for All Pacing.

A purse of $300 was up in the free-for-all, and there were six entries and three starters. Mikado sold favorite in the pools at 5 to 2, and proved himself worthy of the bookmakers' confidence. Willard M., owned by Al Baldwin, Toledo, was a good third in the first heat, but was not in it afterwards. Mikado won in three straights. Summary:

Mikado	1	1	1
Sorrell Dan	2	2	3
Willard M	3	5	4
Passmont	4	3	5
Lockinvar	4	5	2

Time—2:26 1-4, 2:24, 2:23 1-2.

Trot, 2:29, purse $400.

Judge McCory, owned by W. H. Morehouse, was the favorite with the Toledo talent, but Count Robert was too much for anything in the field. He won in three straight heats easily, with Judge Mc Cory a good second each heat. Summary:

Count Robert	1	1	1
Judge McCory	2	2	2
John L	4	3	3
M. W	3	4	4
Maggie S	dis
Steve H	dis

Time—2:27, 2:28, 2:28.

Three-year-old Trot—Class 2:50, purse $200.

There were five entries and but three starters in this race. Corrine was first favorite, but she would break at an opportune moment, and after winning two straights handsomely gave the next two to Zulu. The race was postponed on account of darkness. It was finished today and the result is as follows:

Corrine	1	1	3	3
Zulu	3	2	1	1
Senator	2	3	2	2

Time—2:45 1-2, 2:42 1-2, 2:41, 2:42.

Half-mile Heat Two in Three—Purse $150.

There was considerable dissatisfaction expressed over the start in the third heat, Heloise and Edwin being practically left at the post. Summary:

Billy W	2	1	1
Heloise	1	3	2
Edwin	3	4	dr
Glee Boy	4	2	dr

Time—52 1-2, 52, 53.

Cawood's Reduction Sale.

Immense crowds are visiting W. E. Cawood's artistic store daily to take advantage of his great reduction sale. This genial gentleman has made effort to place in stock only such goods as will give entire satisfaction. His reduction sale is the event of the season in business circles and people are seizing the opportunity of buying diamonds, watches, etc., at greatly reduced rates. To-morrow will be a great day for special sales. Don't fail to call.

Ornamental Needle Work.

Mrs. Noe, of Indianapolis, has awarded the following prizes in ornamental needle-work.

Best hand sewing—First prize, Mrs. M. E. Bartlette, Tompkins, Mich.; second, Miss Jennie Means, Paris, Ill.

Best machine sewing—First prize, Mrs.

ECHOES FROM THE FIGHT

Magnanimous Corbett Defends Sullivan.

He Will Give a Thousand Toward a Benefit.

A Champion Prize Fighter and a Gentleman at the Same Time—General Sporting Notes.

Now that the fight has passed into history and a new record has been made, there is much interesting gossip in pugilistic circles. No one thing showed the characters of the two men better that their actions after the battle.

Corbett bore his honors gracefully and when the champagne corks were popping he refused to drink, and said that milk was good enough for him.

Sullivan went to a barroom and became so beastly drunk that he had to be put to bed.

During his drunken mutterings he said much that was doubtless what he actually thought, for they do say that liquor makes a man show his true nature. While admitting that he had been whipped, he still claimed that he could defeat Corbett if locked in a room with him. To this his backer, Johnson, replied: "Don't be a boy, John. I put my money on you and lost. It was a fair fight and a gentleman won it. No man was ever licked squarer than you were, John; nobody has any fault to find with you. You fought the best you could. But you met your Waterloo, and you ought to give credit where it belongs. Life, activity and youth beat you. You were defeated by a better man."

While Sullivan was thus engaged in maudlin talk, Champion Corbett was receiving an ovation at the opera house, where he appeared in After Dark.

President Noel handed him a check for $25,000. Corbett replied very briefly but made no allusion to the man he had defeater until somebody in the audience shouted: "Sullivan is a duffer."

Quick as a flash the new champion turned whence the voice had proceeded, and exclaimed: "No man ever told Sullivan that to his face and no man should say it behind his back."

His reply was received with a volley of cheers. Corbett bears his honors modestly. Congratulatory messages from all parts of this country, England, Ireland and Australia have been flowing in on him all day. They number somewhere over a thousand and are still coming.

It has not yet been decided whether Sullivan will have a benefit at Madison Square garden, New York, and probably will not be until the party returns north. Magnanimous Corbett announced that if a benefit was held he would pay $1,000 for a box and would appear and spar with the beneficiary.

Duncan B. Harrison, who has a great hatred for Sullivan is in San Francisco today and said:

"Well, I'm satisfied. The big brute has been whipped and, thank the powers, he got it good and hard. Wednesday I sent the hog this telegram:

"To John L. Sullivan, New Orleans—When you are being licked to-night, as you will be, remember the dirty tricks you have played upon me in the past. You know what I think of you. Your hour has come. Duncan B. Harrison."

"I am going to the telegraph office to send another message," continued the actor. I want to tell him how glad I am that he got smashed so hard that 'mudder' wouldn't know him."

While Duncan B. Harrison has grounds for his dislike, his actions in the hour of the ex-champion's defeat was unmanly.

Wm. Muldoon, Sullivan's old trainer, was seen by a Bee reporter last night in New York. When asked if the result was a surprise to him, he said: "No, it was not a surprise, as far as Corbett was concerned, as I well knew Corbett's ability as a fighter. I do not think Sullivan was in fit condition. I do not think he is too old; he should be good for two years yet. I think he could be put in condition to-day to make the greatest fight of his life, but it would require a longer period of training than he devoted for his fight with Corbett.

"I believe that Sullivan to-day is clever enough and well enough preserved, if he was in proper condition, or the condition he could be put in, to hold his own with Corbett or any other man. If he was matched again I would be willing to run the risk of being one of his backers against any man living, provided he is willing to let me have my way about putting him in condition."

This talk of Muldoon's must be taken with a grain of allowance, for everybody knows that Muldoon is a man very much stuck on himself, and the result of the fight shows that the Corbett of September 7 could have whipped John L. Sullivan any day of his life.

Another incident of the fight is the admission made by Sullivan that he was afraid to meet Jackson. Sullivan gave it out that he would not fight Jackson on account of his color, but in his hour of defeat he advised Corbett to keep away from the "Nigger" if he wanted to keep the championship.

THE TOLEDO QUARANTINE

If There is Trouble the Militia Will Be Called Out

To Guard the Property and Patients—The Adjutant General to Send Tents, Etc.—Everything in Readiness.

If cholera should get into the country the Cadets and other local militia would have to get out and work a little, not that that would be anything new to the Cadets, for they are used to hard camp life.

This morning Health Officer Fisher established his quarantine station down the river. Big signs were taken down this morning and will stare the passing vessels in the face from the shore.

The station will be provided with a local physician, who will act as medical examiner.

It is proposed to examine vessels for emigrants arriving from Canadian ports. Stations will also be provided at Cleveland and Sandusky.

The adjutant general of the state will, if it is found necessary, send tents and camp equipage to Toledo sufficient to accommodate 100 persons.

The local military companies will be notified to have their blankets and camp outfits in readiness for the first call from the health authorities.

If it becomes necessary to put the camp into operation, then the adjutant general will, through regimental commanders, call for volunteers from the companies to do guard duty at the camp and to protect the property and the patients.

The gigantic scheme for the prevention of the spread of the dreaded disease is being carried out in perfect detail, which is commendable to those in authority.

VERMONT ELECTION.

The Purport of Later eRturns—Dissatisfaction With the Election Law.

Whit River Junction, Vt., Sept. 9.—Returns from 228 towns give Fuller's majority over Smalley as 18,794; over all, 17,395. The towns last reported no not show a vote corresponding to those first given, and, as the vote of the 15 remaining towns is small, the prospect now is that the republican majority will hardly exceed, if it reaches 19,000 for the whole state, and the republican plurality will hardly come up to the majority indicated by the first returns. There is complaint that not sufficient voting booths were furnished in certain towns even where voters were disposed to exercise the right of suffrage and from the expressions of sentiment received it is quite probable that a strong movement will bemade to repeal the election law. Returns are complete in five counties now, Adison, Franklin, Orange, Wyndham, and Windsor.

NOTES FROM WAPAK.

Wapakoneta, O., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Judge Benj. Linzee appointed ex-Auditor W. F. Torrence and Harry Loth, of this city, to make the biennial treasurer examination required to be made whenever the treasurer's office changes hands.

Judge Linzee appointed E. F. Dawson, of Uniopolis, this county, as one of the board of school examiners to serve for three years.

The board of education of this city, selected J. W. Siferd truant officer for the ensuing year.

The republicans of this county will meet in this city next Tuesday at the court house, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket and selecting a central committee.

WASHINTON NOTES.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The special mail service from Windsor to Stoneville, Ashtabula county, will be discontinued on September 30. However, a star service will be established between the two towns mail to be carried six times a week until June 30, 1895.

Harry Hatfield has been commissioned postmaster at Antonis, O.; Eliza Brown, postmistress of Chaffe, and Arvy A. Pullins, postmaster of Echo, O.

The following Ohio postmasters were appointed to-day: F. N. Moore at Delphi, Hamilton county; W. A. Stewart at Hastings, Richland county; and W. T. Shanks at Johnsville, Montgomery county.

PROHIBS.

Upper Sandusky, O., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The prohibitionists are still in the field in this county and have put up the following candidate: Treasurer, L. F. Walton; commissioner, Wesley Kisor; surveyor, W. P. Webber; infirmary director, Isaac Corfman.

SHE WAS DISAPPOINTED.

He was a dignified gentleman of military bearing, the kind of man who would attract attention anywhere, and he tells this good story on himself:

"I was among the green hills of New Hampshire, rusticating for a few weeks, and taking up my lodgings at such hostelries as were within reach, when I found myself one day at a remote point, where I was the only passenger at the station. A man was waiting for me with a mountain wagon, into which I climbed. He was the landlord of a little inn at the top of the mountain. He looked me over and then at my solitary satchel.

"'Want your trunks sent up to the house or over to the store?'

"'This is all the trunk I have,' I responded.

"'Why, where's your samples, mister?'

"I saw then that he had mistaken my calling for that eminently useful one of the drummer. But the next set-down was of a different kind, and made me feel smaller than anything that ever before happened to me. A very pretty, rosy-cheeked girl stood on the porch of the little inn, a cloud of disappointment on her face, as we drew up.

"'Here we be, sissy,' said the driver, as he threw the lines on the horse's back.

"'Oh, pop,' said the girl, as she pointed to me, and the shadows settled on her fair face, 'is that all you got?'

"I never in my life felt more completely annihilated."—Detroit Free Press.

COLUMBUS EXECUTIONS

Two Murderers Die on the Scaffold.

Craig and McCarthy Pay the Death Penalty.

One of the Men Suffered Awful Agony While Dying—History of Their Crimes.

Columbus, Sept. 9.—A double execution occurred in the Ohio penitentiary shortly after midnight, this morning, murderers McCarthy and Craig paying the extreme penalty of the law for brutal crimes they had committed.

At 11 p. m., Warden James and Deputy Playford proceeded unaccompanied to the annex to read the death warrant. McCarthy was called out first, and in conclusion very calmly said that he was ready to go. Craig next came out to hear his death knell, and took it with the same composure that he has manifested all along. The men bid good-bye to their fellow murderers and went back to the cell with the priests, O'Leary and McGoven. Both seemed ready to die and showed little fear.

McCarthy was the first murderer to ascend the scaffold, at his own request and he died a most agonizing death. It was five minutes after the new born day had been ushered in before Warden James and his two dozen followers took up the march to the annex.

Deputy Stackhouse and the guards stood ready on the trap to adjust the ropes. At 12:10 McCarthy was ushered upon the trap by the attending priests and Deputy Playford. He bore a painful expression about the eyes, and his face was pale as death, indicating the awful agony that he was in.

'Have you anything to say?" asked Warden James, and he replied: "Gentlemen, I bid one and all good-bye. If I have injured anyone I hope he will forgive me, as I have forgiven all who have injured me."

Kissing the crucifix that was extended, the word was given and the condemned murderer shot down to death.

There was a slip in the knot. It failed to catch under the jaw, but worked to the back of the neck, and the labored breathing of strangulation could be distinctly heard all over the room. He suffered the torments of the damned in those few minutes that followed, and tugged desperately to free his hands and legs from the heavy straps that bound him. Slower came the gasp, the pulse, counting seventy-seven as the drop fell, gradually went higher, then fell until 12:15, when he was pronounced dead. It was the greatest struggle ever beheld in the annex yet. The murderer died game.

The second execution was a complete success and not a quiver followed the drop. With celerity McCarthy was cut down and the same rope was soaped while the convicts marched away with the body. At 12:30 all was in readiness for the next victim, and Craig was brought forth to his doom.

His face wore a peaceful expression, as of one in the belief that he was to go straight to heaven. His lips even parted in a ghastly smile as the guards tugged at the straps around his limbs. All in readiness, Warden James gave him a chance to speak. He simply said: "I forgive everybody and hope that everybody will forgive me."

The same black cap was adjusted, as those dark lips kissed the crucifix. The knot was more carefully adjusted, drawn tight, and the lever sprang back sending another spirit into the unknown beyond, while a sharp crack told that the joint had been fatal. The drop fell at 12:33 and the crowd whispered with drawn breath "A good job." Precisely at 12:46 he was pronounced dead by Chief Physician Rowles. Undertakers were in readiness and the bodies of the two men upon whom the letter of the law had been executed were carted away to their friends. Craig's body went to the home of his mother, while a brother of McCarthy took his corpse back to Cincinnati.

The dispositions of the two murderers on the last day of their existence was widely different. Craig passed a good night, sleeping late and snoring loudly. Not so with McCarthy. He slept very lightly and was awake at 4 o'clock. All day he lingered between hope and despair and his mental agony manifested itself in his face, which was pale and haggard, and his eyes stared wildly. Craig appeared happily indifferent all day. He was enjoying that happy state experienced by those of his race on conversion of their sins.

Being asked how he felt he replied: "I feel all right. The Almighty has forgiven all the sins I have committed and I fear nothing." Craig further said that he had had a strong fight with the devil, but finally triumphed and that he enjoyed perfect peace of mind. It was a special request of McCarthy to swing first, and the warden promised to grant the request as Craig had more nerve to stand the suspense. Their meals were served in fine prison style and consisted in the best articles that could be procured. Just before supper the condemned men took an affectionate farewell of their relatives. Craig endeavoring to pacify his aged mother to whom he was greatly attached.

During the afternoon Craig asked to see the noted Isaac Smith and Stanley Jones, the Lake county murderer, who were confined in the annex for some time with him. After a brief chat a sad farewell was spoken and Craig offered an affecting benediction that they become Christians and meet him in heaven.

Craig's crime was one of the most brutal and bloodthirsty on record. It was the stabbing of his mistress, Annie Johnson, in Cincinnati, September 15, 1890. They quarreled frequently, as Craig was a very jealous lover and accused the woman of paying too much attention to Horace Stephens, a colored gambler. They soon separated, but made up again. On the day of the murder Craig became insanely jealous because the woman could not be found, and filled with whisky. He at last found her at home and without any preliminaries stabbed her with a vicious knife after a hard run around the yard. The woman fell with hardly a spark of life in her frame. Craig laid down the knife and started to walk away when he detected a faint quiver of the limbs. Seizing the knife again he plunged its gore stained blade again and again into the inanimate body until the head was all but severed from the trunk.

Edward McCarthy, an ex-convict of the Ohio penitentiary, killed another ex-convict, Albert Nedderman, at Cincinnati, August 23, 1890, and much effort has been made to save him, because he rid the state of a criminal. McCarthy and Nedderman quarreled over a case in court, and the latter was shot and instantly killed. McCarthy escaped, but was pursued by the police. He was at last corraled in a house, but again escaped by jumping from a second story window with a revolver in either hand, and the police were unable to catch him. For several days he could not be found, and the police scoured the country. The murderer crossed over into Kentucky and secured work in a lumber camp. His identity was soon established by means of the newspaper cuts, and by a clever piece of work he was captured without showing any fight.

ANOTHER RICHMOND.

Massillon, O., Sept. 9.—Official information has been received here of a new aspirant for the congressional vacancy in the Sixteenth district created by the death of John G. Warwick, the additional entry being Dr. E. D. Crantz, of Wadsworth, Medina county. This candidate stands well in the west end of Stark country, and it is reported will enter the Orrville convention, September 15, with his own county's solid delegation.

DONCASTER CUP.

London, Sept. 9.—The race for the Doncaster cup to-day was won by Chesterfield, four year old chestnut colt by Wisdom, out of Bramble. Mr. H. C. Bonsors' three year old chestnut colt, Thessalian, by Wisdom, out of Pickle, was second and the three year old brown filly, Brandy, by Retreat, out of Restorative, was third.

HE DIED JUST IN TIME.

How a Man Escaped Being Eaten by a Monarch of the Forest.

There is always something awe-inspiring in a lion, even when viewed behind the iron bars of a cage, but to be suddenly confronted by one on a deserted plain with only a pack of scared-to-death natives at your heels is startling, to say the least of it. I was a young fellow of 22 when this happened to me, says a London correspondent of the Globe-Democrat, and was doing Asia, or such parts of it as the prejudiced populace would permit me to enter. When I proposed to cross the Lybian desert, I fancied that the twinkle in the eye of the official that called on me to learn my business was a malicious one. At any rate, his permission for me to go was suspiciously warm in its manner of delivery. I left the squalid little town that stuck to the edge of the great desert as if its burning sands had a fascination for it, although it was afraid to venture nearer, with ten natives, to whom I had to promise the most ridiculous wages before they would even hear of accompanying me.

All along I had been wondering why the traditional lion did not appear, and until it actually did come leaping out from that clump of stunted palms had really believed that I wanted to see him. But as I eyed the beast it dawned on me that such adventures made much pleasanter reading than enacting. He was a fine fellow with a splendid head and a mane that swept the ground, but one of his flanks bore a long, jagged wound, showing where a lance had struck, and the tawny skin was flecked with blood. I was not only facing a lion, but a wounded one at that. True, I was armed with weapons enough to kill a dozen lions, but I might miss the first shot and arouse the lion's wrath, and then where would I be? This was a question that I felt would require serious consideration, but the sight of all these blessed natives behind me looking to the foreign gentleman to sustain his nation's reputation for valor, nerved me up to placing my rifle to my shoulder, and aiming carefully as I could for the heart of the beast, which stood watching me with bloodshot eyes that never wavered. Bang! I looked for the lion to fall, but instead it gave a roar that seemed to your humble servant to shake the earth, and the next moment the horse I rode had threw me over his head, and was running down the path we had just came over, but the natives were ahead of him. I had read that a lion would not touch any meat that it had not killed itself, so, still retaining my hold upon my weapons, I lay down on the sand and closed my eyes. The monarch of the desert walked leisurely up to me and placed its big, blunt head close to mine, growling and moaning softly. When it had investigated me to its satisfaction it withdrew to the shadow of the palms and lay down. I watched it through my lashes, and presently saw that what I had suspected from the first was correct. The lion was dying from that fearful wound it had received from some unknown hand. I saw the grand head fall to one side, the yellow mane sweep the sand, and the powerful limbs give a quiver and lie still. "He is dead," I said, and rising, walked up to him.

The majesty of that death scene impressed me greatly, and I stooped to gaze into the face of the kingly corpse, when, like a thunderbolt, the supposed defunct lion threw himself upon me. I fell with his whole weight on me, and I breathed a farewell to England, home, and beauty as the powerful jaws closed on my shoulder, but this had been but the expiring effort of nature, and even as the teeth caught my coat the lion was dead. And really dead this time, though it was nearly an hour before I would venture near him. I then walked back to the little town where the natives had told a thrilling story of how our party had been set upon by two enormous lions that had killed me, and, though they had fought valiantly, had chased them to within a short distance of the town. These fire-eaters felt that their devotion, if wasted, had constituted them by natural heirs, and were in the midst of a very pretty quarrel when I walked in and settled the question as to the divison of my effects.

"And where is the lion?" was the chorus when I had convinced them that I was neither my own ghost nor, as some pretended to believe, an impostor. "Dead," I answered with all the nonchalence in the world, and tried to hire them to return with me to secure the game, but not a man would go. I finally succeeded in getting a fresh crowd to accompany me to the scene of the conflict and when we returned to the town carrying the noble carcass the populace came forth in a body to inspect it and do honor to the hero that single-handed had met a lion and slain it.

There have been others that have also viewed me in this romantic light, looking up from their inspection of the magnificent lion skin that adorns my library with tears of admiration of me shining in their dear eyes, but to you I have to-day told the truth concerning my first and only lion hunt.

JOHNNIE'S REVENGE.

"I always take particular pains to secure the good will of small boys," said John Rountree, as he settled back in a Laclede rotunda chair for a seance with a new meerschaum which he is coloring. "The small boy is a thorn in the side of those he dislikes, a three-cornered pebble in the patent-leather of his enemy. When 12 years old I lived about 15 miles from Peoria, Ill., and our next neighbor was a pedantic old preacher, who mistook gall for godliness. He was always peaching on me and getting me licked. I resolved to play even. There was to be a big Fourth of July celebration in Peoria and the preacher and his family were going. They would start before daylight, as the weather was hot. He always drove an old white plug, whose ribs might be counted at half a mile. The day before the Fourth I corraled the old crow-bait. The painters had been at work on our house and the carriage house was well stocked with colors. I ran him in there and went to work on him. I painted his ribs red, his spine blue and flecked it with stars. I gave him yellow legs, green ears, and painted spectacles on him. I kept him confined until after dark, then drove him home. Well, sir, the preacher's old carryall reached the heart of Peoria just before sun up. Everybody was astir. Thousands of people gathered around that circus pageant and laughed till they cried. They do say that the preacher swore. He turned around and drove home, the entire population following him to the city limits. He rushed over to our house in a towering rage, but Johnnie had gone for a drummer boy and was beyond the reach of his ire."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

FELL FROM A TOWER.

An Electric Light Tender Electrocuted.

Pittsburg, Sept. 9.—At 12:45 this morning Police Officer Bowley found the lifeless body of John Hoxwinter lying against the base of an electric light pole at the corner of Fifth avenue and Stevenson street.

Hoxwinter was a light tender in the employ of the Allegheny County Light company. He had ascended the pole to trim the light and had evidently been electrocuted. His left hand and arm were terribly burned. The top of his head had been crushed in by his fall from the 45-foot pole.

Hoxwinter was single. His father, who was also a light inspector, was electrocuted about a year ago.

The Fifth Presbyterian church held its annual meeting last evening. Messrs. Horace S. Blair, Thomas Baird and George Richwin were elected. An adjournment was then taken till October 1.

Would-be deputy U. S. marshals are on the hustle to secure the position made vacant by the promotion of Dan Harmon to the chief deputyship. Of course, there are no office-seekers in the republican party.

A dispute has arisen as to the award of contracts for the erection of the new engine houses, and the committee's action will be the subject of debate at the session of the board of councilmen next Monday night. Mr. G. D. O'Neill regards himself as the lowest bidder, and has engaged Mr. Sam Kohn to endeavor to secure his rights.

A republican worker from the Seventh ward came to the Bee office to enter a good-sized kick against J. C. Rike, who he claimed was dabbling in politics against the provisions of the civil service law. Of course, the Bee would prevent Mr. Rike if it could, but Mr. Brown might not pay attention to the complaint, hence it is not worth while to file it.

A Free Lecture.

Prof. T. Fukushima, a native Japanese, will lecture in Y. M. C. A. hall, Saturday evening at 8, on his country and people. The lecture, while primarily intended for association members, will be free to the public. All are invited.

Sent to the Reform School.

Three of the nine boys arrested for stealing grain from the C., H. & D. cars, Willie Wright, Ernest Brown and Eddy Connors, were sent to the reform school at Lancaster. John Stack was given five days in the city prison. The rest of the boys were discharged with a good lecture.

Will be Re-Elected.

Judge Charles H. Scribner was renominated at Toledo by acclamation for circuit judge, Sixth district, and he will be re-elected. The sentiment in Toledo is nearly unanimous in favor of making the bench non-partisan, and it will have its effect on the result of the election, notwithstanding the fact that C. P. Wickham is cut of a job at present.—Norwalk Experiment.

No More T., C. & C.

The Toledo, Columbus & Cincinnati railroad will soon be a thing of the past, as at the meeting of the stockholders to be held September 29, the road will become the property of the T. & O. C. company and both roads will be operated under the name of Ohio Central. Of course the two roads are at present practically under the same management. The line of the T., C. & C. will be extended to Columbus at once.

Mrs. A. E. Rood Injured.

Mrs. A. E. Rood was knocked down at the corner of Huron and Adams streets yesterday afternoon by a horse and carriage. She was hurt about the head, and her clothing was badly torn. The occupants of the buggy, a boy and two women, drove rapidly on and Detective Hall, who was near by got into a delivery wagon and gave chase. He caught them and brought the boy to the police station and placed a charge of reckless driving against him. His name was Mozer. The matter was settled out of court this morning.

New City Committeemen.

The following gentlemen were elected as members from the various wards of the city to the republican central committee:

First ward—Frank H. Tanner.
Second ward—F. W. Rickenbaugh.
Third ward—T. W. Wheeler.
Fourth ward—J. G. Morganthaler.
Fifth ward—Louis Nunn.
Sixth ward—W. H. Young.
Seventh ward—J. C. Rike.
Eighth ward—Albert Johnson.
Ninth ward—Charles H. Hall.

A Piece of Detective Work.

Wm. Bell, a colored man, was arrested at the fair grounds this morning. He stole a watch and some money from Geo. J. Gilsdorf at Fisher's Club House park a short time since. Gilsdorf never reported the robbery, but the detectives got onto the watch in a pawnshop, thought it was stolen property, got a clew from the markings on the inside, found the owner, and then the thief. It was rather a roundabout proceeding and cleverly worked out.

Street Improvements.

The council committee on streets was only committee that met last evening. The session was rather long, but the amount of business transacted was small. Resolutions were approved to pave Oakwood avenue, Waite avenue to Hoag street; to grade Utica street from Lagrange to Elm; to grade Walbridge avenue, from Hawley to Hiett avenue, and to pave the alley between Summit and St. Clair streets, from Madison to Perry. Ordinances were approved to pave Dorr street from Waite avenue to the city line, and to pave Wisconsin street from Washington street to Collingwood avenue.

The Straw Presidential Contest.

The presidential straw election to occur under a tent, corner Monroe and Bancroft streets, adjourned from Wednesday evening until this evening, because of the rain, promises to be a great entertainment. Messrs. Ashley, Wheeler and Beard will speak for the democrats, republicans and prohibitionists as advertised. Mr. Martin cannot be present to speak for the people's party this evening, and his place will be filled by A. Riley Crittenden. About a hundred more tickets were sold yesterday. With this beautiful weather there ought to be a large crowd, especially considering that about 1,000 tickets are already sold.

Judge Scribner.

There is a strong feeling in this county that the republican party should indorse Judge Scribner as their candidate for circuit judge. When Judge Haynes ran for the office he now holds on the circuit bench he was indorsed by the democrats. Is not turn about fair play? There are many who argue that the position of judge should be lifted out of politics. Now is the time to commence the good work. Judge Scribner has arrived at the age and has the experience and rare learning to enable him to do more for this district as judge than any man in it now on the bench whether he will be democratic or republican and we cannot afford to lose his valuable services. These sentiments are entertained by people of all parties in Sandusky county, and we hope they may be favorably considered by the voters of the circuit.—Fremont Messenger.

President Booth Resigns.

The Central Labor union held its regular meeting at Carpenter's hall last evening, but routine business only was transacted.

Mr. R. F. Booth tendered his resignation as president of the Central Labor union on account of continued sickness in his family. The resignation was accepted with much regret, and a vote of thanks given Mr. Booth for his impartial rulings and the efficient manner in which he has discharged the somewhat arduous duties of this office.

Vice-president Fellows will act as presiding officer during the unexpired term.

There will be a special meeting of the Labor day arrangements committee at a date to be announced later. The indications are that a neat sum has been netted, and it will be used for the furtherance of the interests of the central body and those affiliated with it.

The Riders To-Morrow.

The bicycle racers at the exposition grounds to-morrow afternoon will be the best ever ridden in this city. The Toledo Cycling club has spared no pains to make the event a success. There will be quite a number of events and a great many Toledo riders will participate, as well as those from other cities. Among the many who have entered the lists are: O. P. Bernhart, F. B. Rigby, W. A. Parker, J. S. Perrin, L. G. Colton, G. L. Chapman, O. Theide, H. L. Brigham, F. Collins, A. M. McCown, H. Webster, Fred Boice, F. S. Terry, L. E. Goldman, R. C. Westmeyer, W. Connelly, F. Macomber, M. Mendelsohn and R. Streicher, of Toledo; Ed Yass and A. W. Tonsley, of Elkhart, Ind.; W. J. Helson, Detroit; W. B. Inks, Ligonier, Ind.; C. C. Handy, F. J. Bollmeyer, O. L. Brailey, Wauseon; B. O. Gamble, Catawba Island; F. F. Rough, South Bend, Ind.; H. A. Casseth, Owosso, Mich.; A. L. Baker, Columbus; E. L. De Camp, Elkhart, Ind.; P. E. Phillips, Detroit; C. C. THE BROER CASE GOES OVER

Until Next Tuesday—Additional Claims Filed by Creditors.

The examination in aid of execution in the case of Ernest Adler against Bernhard H. Broer was called in probate court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Broer and his attorney, Mr. Samuel Kohn, were present as were W. H. A. Read, representing the Jewelers' exchange of New York city.

Yesterday Mr. Kohn intimated to Mr. Read that he should like to go away and wanted the case continued until to-morrow. However, Mr. Broer insisted upon the examination being proceeded with and Mr. Kohn concluded to remain. This morning Mr. Reed said he had understood that Mr. Kohn desired a continuance and in consequence was not prepared. He, therefore, requested a continuance until Tuesday. This the court granted and the hour was fixed at 9 a. m.

The following claims were received today by Mr. Read. The Hartford Silver Plate company, $62.12; J. W. Weil Bros., $23; L. Souter & Co., $62.05; Levy Dreyfus & Co., $68.41; Odenheimer & Zimmern, $567; Seckler & Oppenheimer, $368.67; Ketcham & McDougal, $63.70.

Notes from the Scrimmage.

Ann Arbor employes had a day offff yesterday.

Squie's defeat in the Fourth is in the nature of a surprise.

Jake Romeis heads the Seventh ward delegation for Hamilton.

Some of the wheelhorses will be missed in to-morrow's convention.

Charley Griffin is a good fighter, but like Sullivan he has lost his grip.

Governor Ashley was at Put-in-Bay, but he left several leaders behind him.

It took until 4 o'clock this morning to count out in some of the wards.

The prediction is made that the Baber law will not be used again very soon.

Chas. W. Otis is elected city committeeman in the Second ward to fill a vacancy.

Kent Hamilton's friends claim he has carried all the county precincts, save one.

Returns from the country precincts are not yet in the hands of Chairman Bonner.

It is said that Griffin will not have a delegate in the convention. This is a little wild.

Eighth ward returns are irregular, and will go before the election board for adjudication.

Deputy Oil Inspector Hall captured the Ninth ward committeeman's berth in the central body.

A central committee without Col. Bonner will be queer. He has done some close planning in his day.

Two events in one week—Sullivan-Corbett fight and republican primaries—but the latter was the greater.

There is some anxiety as to who Mayor Emmick will vote for. Ashley claims him, and so does Hamilton.

Col. Bonner is the returning board, which does away with an 8 to 7 vote. He has things his own way.

Civil service rules did not prevent government officials from being on hand very early and remaining quite late.

There will be some surprises in store for to-morrow. Delegates counted for one fellow are for another. So it goes.

Judge Thurstin in the First ward was rather too strict to suit many of the voters. The fishermen will wait for their turn later.

Candidates for places on the county ticket were lost sight of in the general melee, and they have been doing some importuning to-day.

The election board met this afternoon at 3 o'clock to pass on disputed questions, and to cast lots between those who received the same number of votes.

TRADES' CONGRESS.

Spirited Discussion Held in London.

The Eight Hour Movement Decided Upon After a Heated Argument.

London, Sept. 9.—The trades' union congress in session at Glasgow had an exciting debate to-day on the question whether it was desirable to have enforced by parliamentary enactment an 8-hour day for every trade in the kingdom. The opponents of an 8-hour law supported their position with earnestness and energy, but the motion received unexpected sympathy from a number of representatives of the cotton manufacturing districts who have heretofore been opposed to the 8-hour principle.

The resolution of an 8-hour working day, compulsory by law, was passed with the proviso that any trade except the miners should be empowered by a vote of the majority to exempt itself from the 8-hour limit.

OYSTERS AT MEINERT'S.

L. H. Meinert is serving oysters in all styles at his famous lunch and confectionery parlors, corner Summit and Oak streets.

Schunck, Hillencamp & Co.

The crowd is about eight deep all the time around the exhibit of this enterprising firm. The famous Paris Range with its double draft is the only range in the world having a smokeless broiler, pan cake griddle, toaster and waffle iron and a top that is guaranteed never to warp. Don't fail to see it. W. J. Daniels, the silver-tongued orator, has charge of the exhibit and he holds the crowd spellbound as he pictures to them the superiority of the Paris ranges over other kinds.

J. W. Greene & Co.'s

Exhibit of Pianos and Organs has been much missed at the Exposition this year. Messrs. Greene & Co. extend an invitation to all to call and see their new, large and handsome music rooms in Pythian Castle, corner Jefferson and Ontario streets, where will always be found the largest and most complete stock of pianos, organs and sewing machines in the city.

Poultry Awards.

F. J. Marshall, judged the poultry and the following gentlemen received awards of premiums for exhibits:

Charles McMCleve, New London, 33 first premiums and 22 second premiums.

S. E. Murst, of Elyria, 30 first premiums and 29 second.

John Schelusta, Toledo, 1 first premium.

R. Davis, 1 second premium.

G. D. Dale, Toledo, 1 second premium.

Fair Notes.

The side-shows are still in it.

Give the New Jerusalem a call.

The horse show has been excellent.

There was an unusual scarcity of picture cards this year.

Mary and John and comrades visited the fair yesterday.

No serious accidents have occurred. Good management.

The tin-type galleries were well patronized yesterday and to-day.

The snake charmer was quite badly bitten by the snake yesterday.

No case of pocket picking has been reported as yet. Honest crowd.

The Third Presbyterian church lunch stand is doing a rushing business.

Big children, little children and all kinds of children visited the fair to-day.

Plenty to eat and good waiters at the church of the New Jerusalem lunch stand.

The fancy work at the asylum booth is not selling as rapidly as could be desired.

The ladies of the Unitarian church did cooking by electricity at Bissel & Dodge's to-day.

The grand stand was crowded yesterday afternoon, many prominent society people being present.

Mr. Depew has given much pleasure at the Whitney & Currier music stand by his fine piano selections.

The lunch stands did not do as well as usual this year, owing to Tuesday and Wednesday being dull days.

Women were allowed to look at the petrified woman yesterday afternoon. Previously it had been for men only.

The bicycle races for to-morrow afternoon, promise to be the crowning event of the week.

Back number sandwiches and gingersnaps—old settlers—were not at a premium to-day.

The church of the New Jerusalem serves elegant dinners. Cyclers can get their meals there to-morrow.

H. G. Campbell arranged the Gendron exhibit to the credit of the company and himself. Mr. Campbell is an artist in this line.

What's the matter with Toledo artists? They forgot to exhibit many of their pictures this year. People who call at Art hall are disappointed.

The last heat of the postponed race resulted as follows. Zulu first; Florine second; Senator third; time, 2:36 1-4. This give Zulu the race.

Prof. Alexander, the aeronaut, landed in a thistle patch yesterday, but escaped with a few scrtaches. He says if there is a thistle, grave yard or frog pond within reach he is always in it. Miss LaMont is quite recovered and made the ascension to-day.

LATE MARKETS.

The receipts of wheat to-day at Minneapolis and Duluth are 327,520 bu., and at five other western stations 817,507 bu.; aggregate, 1,145,027 bu. On the corresponding Friday in 1891 the receipts at these points cannot be compared by our files, but they were less than the movement to-day.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were, wheat, 537,48 bu., and flour to an aggregate of 1,000,000 bu. Export of corn, 67,043 bu.

English markets are dull and lower for wheat an dsteady for corn.

The Markets To-Day.

Uncertainty always characters the grain trade, but it seems to us that just now each side could make a strong presentation of expectations. From day to day we desire to present the news and evidence touching both sides of the deal. Yesterday we printed evidence that England would likely be an importer to the extent of 169,000,000 bu. France and the other states on the continent will also draw upon us for supplies, but just now they do not seem in need of much help. Good harvests, of good quality, with stocks of old wheat for mixing when necessary, will be likely to satisfy present wants

Of the exporting countries India shows a large falling off compared with last year, but the shipments thence from April 1, the beginning of the crop year, to August 3, were 21,880,000 bus, and nearly an average of years preceding 1891. Of the dark continent of Russia but little reliable information is yet attainable. Of course the exports thence will in no wise compare with the 100,000,000 bu and more prior to 1891. Australia, as usual, falls behind expected exportation. South America is doing her best and selling all the product she can spare in order to furnish exchange to redeem a worthless fiat currency.

The price of wheat is low, and has only been lower in 1887, and it would seem reasonable to suppose that redemption draweth nigh—but how nigh, and when, every fellow must decide for himself.

The wheat markets on this side of the Atlantic have presented no new feature compared with yesterday, and the quotations received here indicate about the same prices as yesterday. There is mighty little fun in the deal nowadays,, and velvet on either side is scarce. The speculating public outside are not laying awake nights on account of unfortunate deals, long or short. Who is to blame for this paralysis of the markets and low prices? American farmers. Who have dumped a great proportion of their surplus on the market in six weeks and frightened every wheat buyer on both sides of the Atlantic.

Corn don't stand hitched worth a cent, and the 50c dealers are mourning and weeping. It may be worth it, but low grades of wheat and rye, and poor barley, will supply the needs for animal food somewhat. Chicago has in all elevators about 5,000,000 bu in store against 3,000,000 bu last year.

Foreign markets are all reported closing lower.

In Toledo, the business in wheat goes very slow. There is no life or activity in the deal. While the cash demand has been about fair, futures have been dull, and the market uninteresting. Prices have raised but little and close practically unchanged. On the call December sold at 78 1-2c and May at 83 3-4c. On the regular board September sold and closed at 76c; October at 76 3-8c; December at 78 3-8c and closed at 1-2c bid; May at 83 7-8c and closed at 1-2c bid; May at 83 7-8c and closed at that sellers.

Cash wheat—No. 2 soft sold at 75 3-4 to 76c; No. 3 soft at 67 3-4 to 68c. On the call December sold at 70 1-4c; No. 4 soft at 61c; rejected No. 1 at 64 to 66c; No. 2 at 49 to 50c; smutty at 50 to 55c; weavily at 62c; wheat and rye at 60c, rye and wheat at 41c; red and white No. 2, at 73 3-4c; No. 3 at 66c.

Corn—No. 2 at 48c, October at 48 1-2c, No. 3 yellow at 48 1-2c.

Oats—No. 2 at 33c, No. 3 at 31c, rejected at 25 to 26c.

Rye—No. 2 at 59c, No. 3 at 48 3-4c, rejected at 41c.

Clover seed—On the call November sold at $5.67 1-2. On the regular board prime for cash $5.90, October at $5.75, November at $5.70, No. 2 at $5.65, to $5.75. There was more business doing and futures were 5c up.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The democratic voters of Lucas county are hereby notified to assemble in convention at Druid Hall, Toledo, on Saturday, September 17th, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., to nominate candidates for the November election, as follows:

County Commissioner,
County Recorder,
County Surveyor, and Infirmary Director;

And to select delegates to the Congressional and Judicial conventions.

In the several wards of the City of Toledo primaries will be held, and in the Townships outside of Toledo mass caucuses will be held.

At the primaries in the city and the caucuses in the townships, delegates to the county convention will be elected and also one member of the county central committee from each ward and township.

The township caucuses will be held at three o'clock p. m. on Thursday, September 15.

The city ward primaries will be held between the hours of 4 and 8 o'clock p. m. at places to be hereafter designated by the ward committeemen, the announcement of which places will be made in the Bee.

The democrats present at the opening of the polls at the primaries in the several wards will select two judges and one clerk to receive the ballots and record the name of each person voting, and when the polls are closed they will certify the result to the Chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee.

The wards and townships are entitled to one delegate for each 50 votes cast for Gov. Campbell in November, 1891, and one additional delegate for fraction over 25 votes, as follows:

	Vote.	Delegates.

By order of the County Central Committee.
O. A. BROWNING, Chairman.
C. W. MURPHY, Secretary.

The Corbett punch has taken the place of the Sullivan swing.

The sacrificial lamb of 1890 is the successful ram of 1892. His name is Jimmy Ashley.

Ex-Champion Dempsey's compliments to ex-Champion Sullivan, and how does he like it. They all get there after awhile.

Dr. Lincoln, of Wood, will hardly be pleased with the reliable report that the Toledo government officials have deserted him and taken up Gov. Ashley's cause.

Those blasted Canucks that take fiendish delight in tearing down the American flag on occasion dare not come across the border and touch Old Glory.

Field Marshal Murat Halstead is the happiest man in Brooklyn. His picture and autograph have been printed in the New York Herald twice within a month.

John Jacob Astor, the many times millionaire, has invented a road cleaner. Bless his dear inherited bear skin soul, we hope he will put it in practical use and make a barrel of money from the speculation.

Ex-Congressman Phil Thompson, of Kentucky, has just returned from a business trip to Colorado. While there he made a study of the political situation and is firmly convinced that the electoral vote of the silver state will be cast for Gen. Weaver.

It will be a shame to the good city of Cleveland if the people shall so forget the great service of Commodore Perry to his country as to permit his statue to be removed to give place to a shaft to glorify later heroes. Oliver Hazard Perry will never be a back number in the hearts of grateful countrymen.

Who the democrats will nominate for congress, seems to worry the republicans. It all depends upon whom the republicans nominate. There are possibilities of the election of a democrat and no chance will be thrown away. The best man, after a thorough canvass of the situation, will be the selection of the democratic party of the Ninth district.

It is not so much the cholera introduction this year as the results a year to come that concern our people. The precautions so promptly taken by government and local officers will check its progress now, but the germ of the scourge will live and next year our ports are to be open for all the world to come and see our great Columbian fair. What of cholera next year, should most concern health officers from now until next June.

The net earnings of the sugar trust the past year were $17,000,000. This is one of the iniquities the republican party by the Sherman law, and by the power vested in President Harrison, proposed to wipe from the trade of the land. Mr. Harrison will do nothing of the kind. From the enormous profits of the trusts the republican fat-fryers will obtain the sinews of the campaign.

The Republican primaries on Thursday were disgracefully conducted. Charges of boodling were bandied on all sides and the result in several quarters gives color to the story. The old feud between Sherman and Foraker was dragged to the front, and the senator won, as usual. Ashley was the administration candidate. Griffin was the incarnation of the hatred of the Forakerites. Hamilton was an easy go-between. Ashley won. How, is told by every other republican met on the streets. It was a dirty mess, but it was a republican mess.

A similar condition exists in the local government of Chicago. The present mayor, Hempstead Washburn, was elected as a republican reformer. Very soon it developed that Hemp was disposed to give the gamblers, who so long ruled Chicago, full swing. The chief of police was, and is, a stumbling block to Hemp's schemes, for he is disposed to enforce the laws. The conflict of authority is a publis scandal, and the burden of the scandal rests with the mayor. The attempt to arrest the gamblers at Garfield racing park on Tuesday, which resulted in the death of two officers and the notorious Jim Brown, was ordered by the chief, though not sustained by the mayor. Crimination and recrimination, are common charges, and bribery is talked over in the courts between the two officers. And this is what comes to the people of the western metropolis for defeating the democratic candidate and electing a moral republican to the mayoralty. Better get back quickly to good principles.

ANOTHER GLADIATOR LICKED.

Yesterday we sang sweet songs of praise to Charles Punchem Griffin.

To-day we put on sack cloth and ashes and lament the fate of Charles Punched-out Griffin.

Our gladiatorial champion is disfigured and sorely whipped.

He's licked—the first real good political whipping he ever experienced, and when the news was received his face grew redder than the prize beet at an agricultural show.

The king is dead, long live the king.

Here's sorrow for Griffin, here's cheer for that young athletic politician, that amateur in the ring, Jimmy Ashley.

The sacrificial lamb knocked out the old stager.

THE PASSING OF BLAINE.

Scarcely one in a hundred knows that Mr. Blaine has given a political letter to the public this week. Scarcely one in ten of those who do know care a whit what it contains. Time was when a blast from Blaine was worth ten thousand; but Blaine has passed; he is almost ancient history. Even the faithful followers at Minneapolis have no more use for him. As completely a back number as Prof. John Lawrence Sullivan, the erstwhile boss, Mr. Blaine should himself realize his certain decadence, and be content to pass his remaining days in quiet and in thinking of what he has been. This is the depressing side of life, but it comes to most leaders of men, especially to politicians, as surely as time. Young America wants a successful leader, and when an idol falls it is shattered on the roadway of stone that a short time before was covered with the choice flowers of praise. So Blaine is shattered and whatever he may say or do in this or any subsequent campaign will have little effect upon the American voters.

AN ARMED PROTEST AGAINST HIGH TAXES

From Mexico comes the story of a singular state of affairs. The people of the district of Guerrerro are in open revolt against the excessive imposition of taxes. A federal general sent to quell the disturbance is captured and held as hostage until the government removes the obnoxious impost. The report of this singular, though very natural revolt does not state the rate of taxation to which the people object, but, as the method of raising revenue is that of direct taxation the people quickly judge the individual assessment and realize its excessive nature. It hardly can be that burdensome as are the taxes in Geurrero they amount to more than twenty or thirty per cent. of the gross income of the people. It is highly improbable that it approximates fifty per cent. But, whatever it is, the taxpayers realize the unfairness of the great burden and protest to the extremity of open and murderous revolt.

If the misguided Mexican could only be transported to a neighbor country, the boast of all earthly national greatness, and be made cognizant of the boastful laws which at the minimum take fifty per cent. of the expenditures of every family to pay tribute to some other man or set of men, how the hot blood of the swarthy southerner would boil. He would want to revolt twice and arrest a whole lot of federal generals, and rip up the whole system which makes possible the imposition of such outrageous taxes. Indeed he would, and he would be right.

Yet this state of affairs, this enormous taxation is part of the politico-economic system of the United States, and the only difference between conditions here and in Mexico is that in one the taxation is direct and in the other it is indirect. How quickly the patriotic American citizen would protest were his share of the tariff tax put upon the duplicate and forcibly taken from him under the stress of law. How long would bread winners and bread eaters permit half their earnings to be taken from them for other use. And how quickly would they learn where the money thus extorted went. And so soon as they knew that hardly a tithe of it went to the government, but, instead, was directly placed in the cash drawers of other American citizens, no better, and no more worthy than the taxpayers, how long, how long, we ask, would the people stand such outrageous conditions. Hardly so long as the native Mexicans, who are now in revolt in the fastnesses of mountain ranges.

The people of this country are patient and long suffering. They submit to slavish methods of oppression with scarcely a word of protest. They take it as it comes and bow down to the idol of political allegiance; and when the leaders of a party tell them these wrongs are committed in the name of protection, and that the sufferers are protected, they close their eyes to reason, say amen to the preachment, and vote to increase the burdens. No other people on earth would endure such oppression, especially were the remedy so easy of application. All it requires is the freeman's ballot to right the grievous wrong. The Mexican episode is an object lesson worth learning. Revolt against excessive taxation is patriotic duty. Revolt, rebel, destroy, but do it with the ballot instead of the bullet. Do it next November.

TO ROB THE COMPANY.

The Southern Express Had a Narrow Escape.

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—A very daring attempt to rob the office of the Southern Express company in this city was made at an early hour this morning. Officer Creagh watches the big building, which fronts on Perdido street.

At 3:30 this morning three men came up to him, placed a pistol to his head and ordered his surrender. They had the officer at a disadvantage and he could do nothing.

The thieves then tied the officer to a post and went into the building. An attache of the office, Mr. Peck, saw them and started toward them. They commanded him to halt, but, though unarmed, he paid no attention to them. One of the men fired a shot, which fortunately did not take effect.

Mr. Peck kept on advancing towards the men and evidently fearing that he was armed and that the shooting would bring assistance, they started and ran from the building. Chase was given them when assistance arrived and one of the men was caught. He proved to be a man named Clifford, an employe of the company. The other men turned into St. Charles street and escaped.

ASHLEY WINS.

Boodle Galore at the Republican Primaries.

Squire Meets His Waterloo in the Fourth.

Money Flows Like Water and Ashley's Workers Had the Pile.

Doc Smith Weeps Over His Defeat in the Second.

Ashley-Hamilton Combine in the Fourth Where Men Are Bought Like Sheep—Griffin is Now Deader Than Sullivan.

It was boodle, boodle, boodle.

It was Ashley's pile against the combinations, and it won.

Poor Griffin was not in it at any stage of the game.

The greatest slaughter was that in the Fourth, where Johnny Morganthaler knocked out Squire.

Never even in the heat of a presidential election was such interest taken in a contest, and never in the history of this city has so much money been spent in an election or such disreputable means adopted to reach an end. Money flowed like water in every ward, and it is putting it low in placing the amount of money spent in this election at $8,000.

Doc Smith, who wept over his defeat in the Second, is authority for the statement that men secured by him at $15 were rebought by Ashley's friends for $50. This, he says, was the cause of his defeat.

In the Fifth and Ninth, democrats were besought and offered money to assist one side or the other, and money was on tap for all comers.

It was in the Fourth, however, that the struggle was the fiercest.

It will be remembered that the Bee stated a few days ago that Squire threatened to knife Gus Wendt, who is a candidate for recorder, unless Wendt's friends supported the Griffin slate.

Johnny Morganthaler took up the challenge and securing Wendt's assistance, went into the fight to win, and he did win.

It was not until the polls opened that Squire realized the fact that the Ashley-Hamilton factions had formed a combination to defeat Griffin.

Squire was furious, but he is a fighter, and he fought it out against heavy odds.

How the money did fly though, between 6 and 8 o'clock. Every worker had a wad.

Here are samples of conversations that could be heard on every hand:

"How much is it (vote) worth?"

"How much do you want?"

"Ten dollars."

"You go to h—l. Do you think I'm made of money? I've spent $160 since 4 o'clock."

"The h—l you did. You got $300 to spend, did you not?"

"That's none of your business," etc., etc.

There were friends and neighbors who talked this way.

Yes, there was lots of money in the Fourth.

In the Sixth the most disreputable means were taken by Ashley's friends.

Over a hundred democrats were bought up from the mills in and around Ironville and voted solid, though Griffin and Hamilton's friends stoutly protested.

These men swore in their votes, but refused to swear they would support the republican ticket except in Ashley's case.

The leading republicans stood back bewildered and disgusted with the high-handed proceedings.

Ex-Councilman Caldwell, speaking with a Bee last evening, said there was never a more disgraceful piece of skullduggery as that of the Ashley tactics in the Sixth.

"The decent republicans of the Sixth," he said, "are so thoroughly disgusted that they will not support Ashley if he is nominated, and Mr. Tucker is a dead duck, let me tell you."

"What did he do?"

"He, as chairman of the republican executive committee, had control of the poll books, and he held them to use in Ashley's campaign shutting out both Hamilton and Griffin."

"Do you mean to say that he refused Hamilton and Griffin access to the books?"

"That's just what I mean. It is the meanest piece of political trickery I have ever known."

Tom Tracy worked like a Hercules in the Eighth, but Griffin's pile was no match for Ashley's and Tom was not in it. It is claimed that $1,200 was placed in the Eighth.

It was a boodle campaign from the start to the finish, and the winner as a result will have a rocky road to travel.

It may be stated incidentally that the primaries yesterday will cost the taxpayers of Lucas county something like $3,000.

At the Republican Club Rooms.

The announcement that returns from the primaries would be received at the Republican club rooms brought together a few of the faithful about 9:30 last night. The first to put in an appearance were Mayor Emmick, Col. Bonner, Judge Austin and Karl Flickinger. Hon. Charles P. Griffin sauntered along shortly after, but had no reliable tidings. Mr. Griffin Adams, Carl Beckham, Frank Rickenbaugh, Judge Sala and Moss Math dropped in. They had heard a great many rumors, but had no reliable tidings. Mr. Griffin and a few of the boys settled down to play whist to await the coming of the returns.

The first report was received from the Seventh ward, when John Kumler and Joe Cooper rushed in almost out of breath, and announced that Kent Hamilton had distanced his competitors, and had captured the 34 delegates. John inquired for Kent, but Kent was not on hand, and he left to find him. The curly-headed statesman had not been gone long before Hamilton appeared, dressed in a new suit of clothes, and shook hands with the boys, including Mr. Griffin. He was informed of what had happened in the Seventh, but learned of it as if he had expected just such a turn. Harry Bacon came in next with the information that "the hill has gone back on us," meaning the Hamilton folks. His story was not believed, but it turned out O. K.

This intelligence was a dampener for a few minutes, but soon Capt. Joe Ford and John S. Kountz dropped in and announced that Hamilton had carried the Third.

Mr. Griffin sat through the ordeal in his usual suave manner, and outside of a little color in his face, as the unfavorable news was imparted, was unmoved. He chatted pleasantly, and if he was disappointed he gave but little evidence of it. Ashley did not show up. Returns did not come in very fast, and the party broke up shortly before midnight. There were a good many things said during the evening which would lead one to believe that the "friendly contest" of the afternoon and evening had not been entirely of a love-feast character.

Most of the politicians present were inclined and did score the members of the board of elections for assuming to interfere with their bout. It was evident that the average republican has no use for the primary system in the selection of delegates, notwithstanding their great cry for a free ballot and a fair count. The plan may be used again, but it is not likely, judging from last night's expressions.

Col. Bonner was the subject for a good deal of jest, on account of the fact that all of the returns had been ordered by the election board to be sent to him. This is a duty which the genial Joe had endeavored to shirk, desiring that he should have some company with so important a trust. The appeals to the board had the opposite effect, however, and the Colonel is to-day the possessor of the documents which can make or unmake delegates. But, since Mr. Griffin does not appear to be in it, Mr. Bonner will not even be tempted to "monkey with a tally sheet." His side is happy in Griffin's defeat, and will be content with Hamilton or Ashley, though a little more so with the latter, for whom the government forces are said to have been in line.

A Summing Up of the Situation.

While the full returns have not been received from the country precincts, it is the general opinion that Mr. Ashley has secured a majority of the delegates elected. Mr. Griffin concedes that he is out of the race, but Mr. Hamilton will stay to the finish. His friends are game, and will not allow the ex-governor to capture Lucas county's 99 votes without a struggle. It is hardly worth while to give figures as to the standing of the delegates. To-day the workers have been busy seeing the lucky fellows, and there is no telling what may be accomplished. Ashley has the best of the fight thus far, but it remains to be seen whether he can maintain his position.

A Mess for To-Morrow's Convention.

It's a nice mess into which Griffin and his Baber law scheme has inveigled the republicans of Lucas county, and there will be a hair-pulling at the convention as a result.

It was Griffin's pet scheme to have the board of election take charge of the primaries, and he was instrumental in having the townships divided into precincts instead of one voting place being fixed as with the wards in the city.

By the developments this morning, there seems to have been method in his labors.

Before the election the board of election issued a circular of instruction to the judges and clerks, which embraced the following clause:

9 At the close of the canvass of the election the judges and clerks are required to sign and deliver to the candidate having the highest number of votes for each office or appointment to be filled, a certificate of his election.

Nothing, however, was said about the precincts, which several townships had been devided into, and according to instruction, the judges and clerks of these precincts counted out the votes, and issued certificates of election to the delegates on the tickets receiving a majority of votes.

Yesterday a resolution was adopted by the board of elections directing the county central committee to canvass the vote of the township precincts and issue certificates of election to the delegates receiving the highest number of votes in the township, seven for Oregon, eleven for Washington and four for Waterville.

The delegates receiving the majority in the precinct have certificates of election and will demand seats in the convention. The central committee, of course, will obey orders and issue certificates to the delegates receiving a majority of votes in the township, who will of course demand recognition. Just how the presiding officer of the convention will recognize two sets of delegates from each of the several townships remains to be seen. In the meantime Col. Bonner smiles as he views the situation and draws a conclusion. The method established by the call of the central committee was all wrong and illegal, but Col. Bonner has the secret satisfaction of being called upon by the board of elections to help them out in the muss

GRAIN THOUGHTS.

Clippings From the Circular Issued by C. A. King & Co.

"Our Boy Solomon," in the issue of C. A. King & Co.'s grain circular of yesterday, had the following information, in which the great body of readers will be intrested:

Kansas has the largest wheat crop of any state this season. It is also of exceptionally good quality, but mostly hard wheat of the Turkish variety. The state reports generally make the crops there larger than the national reports. The September state report of yesterday, estimates the wheat crop this year at 70,000,000, an increase over August. The national report for August made it only 57,000,000 bushels, against 58,000,000 a year ago. The September state report makes the corn condition only 68, nine less than a month ago. Last year they raised 142,000,000 of corn, but only 55,000,000 in 1890.

France imported 13,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour during their crop year ending August 1, 1892. This was the largest ever known and a third came from our Atlantic coast. This is quite a change from ten years ago when they exported wheat. It is estimated that they will require 40,000,000 bushels of imports this crop year, but they are not anxious now as their home crop is being marketed. They raise the largest wheat crop of any European country, this year it is estimated at 276,000,000 bushels, according to Beerbohm's latest estimate.

United Kingdom has very large stocks of wheat and flour and this is why they do not buy more freely at present low prices. During the crop year ending with last month they imported more than ever before, a total of 180,000,000 bushels wheat and flour of which two-thirds were from the United States. It was estimated at the Vienna congress that they would require 160,000,000 this crop year. During the cereal year ending September 1, 1861, they imported 151,000,000 and 152,000,000 in 1890. Beerbohm estimates that the stocks of wheat and flour there on September 1, were 32,000,000 bushels against only 9,500,000 bushels a year ago. The largest stocks there before were 30,000,000 on January 1, 1884.

Spring wheat receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis decreased during August and are now much smaller than a year ago. The total there for August was a trifle larger than last year. Chicago had trifle larger receipts than last year, but mostly of winter wheat and partly from Kansas. New spring wheat generally moves freely the last half of September and reaches its maximum in October or November.

The recent seasons compare as follows:

Minneapolis.

Year.	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.
1892	3,700,000	—	—

1884	3,800,000	3,200,060	4,000,000

The crop in the principal spring wheat states this year is about 140,000,000 bus. against 196,000,000 [illegible] 000,000 in 1890 and 141,000,000 in 1889. Quality is not as good as last year, when it was very fine.

BLAZE IN FINDLAY.

Firemen Badly Injured by Falling Walls.

Findlay, O., Sept. 9.—(Special)—At 3:30 this morning fire completely destroyed the extensive fire brick and tile works of Childs & Murray in the southeastern part of the city, along the T., C. & C. R. R., causing a loss of over $10,000 and with only $3,000 insurance.

Fireman Cox, Chief Ruhl and J. P. Murray, of the firm, were caught by a falling wall and painfully injured.

It is thought Mr. Murray's injuries will prove fatal. He has been unconscious since the accident.

The flames caught from a furnace. A large force of men will be temporarily thrown out of employment.

In some of the big restaurants of Russia there is a pool of water, in which various kinds of fish swim aboout. A patron of the restaurant who desires fish goes to the pool, points out the particular one he wishes, and in an instant the waiter has captured it with a dipnet and sent it to the chef.

A HORRID PAPA

Comes to Toledo for His Daughter.

Miss Daisy Mayer, of the Ship Ahoy Company,

Is Carried Back to Cleveland to Marry a Rich Man—Papa Was Obdurate and Daisy Departed in Tears.

It is the old story of the rich man who wishes to buy a young, handsome and vivacious wife with his gold.

However, in this instance, gold didn't work. Miss Daisy Mayer, the charming little actress won't be purchased in that manner.

Daisy came to Toledo last Monday with the Ship Ahoy Opera company and stopped at the Jefferson.

She played one of the principal parts in the opera and was the hit of the show, pretty, graceful, a clever dancer, and altogether a very chic young lady, and only 19 years of age.

What life there was in the opera she put there. The management recognized this, for after her first performance in Detroit last week they had her sign a contract to remain with the company for three years.

Manager Slocum has that contract in his pocket, and will probably have use for it.

All went lovely for Daisy the first part of the week, but on Wednesday her father, Mr. Mayer, of Cleveland, made his entrance in Toledo and found his daughter at the Jefferson.

He wanted her to go home with him and marry a wealthy Cleveland man, who was desperately in love with her.

Daisy protested, rebelled, entreated, changed tactics, scolded, stormed and finally cried till her heart almost broke.

Papa was obdurate. Daisy must leave the stage and go home.

The father and daughter argued the matter nearly all Wednesday night and Miss Daisy vowed that come what would she would never marry that horrid man, so there, stamping her pretty foot on the floor.

Papa prevailed, and yesterday Daisy was hustled home to Cleveland.

Manager Slocum was frantic at losing his best card, and he immediately followed the couple to Cleveland. He returned this morning, without Daisy, however. But he has the three years' contract, and as Daisy is 19, perhaps he can hold her.

Another young lady took her part of Lulu Lalla at Wheeler's last evening, but Daisy was missed from the cast.

It seems too bad that a girl with so much talent as Miss Mayer possessed can not use it. She would rapidly go to the front with Della Fox, Marie Jansen and other favorites, since she has the talent.

Buffalo.

Buffalo, Sept. 9.—Chicago is having hard luck in getting a revenue cutter. It was over a year ago that bids were first called for on this cutter. All were thrown out because they exceeded the appropriation.

Congress at its last session increased the appropriation, and the Union Dry Dock company of this city was awarded the contract two weeks ago.

To-day the company threw up the contract, and now bids must be called for.

No coal is in sight, and no charters were made this morning. Rates are weak but unchanged as yet.

Duluth.

Duluth, Sept. 9.—Two vessels were chartered to-day to load wheat next week to Buffalo at 3 cents. The steamer Nyack has arrived, 30 hours late. She lay off Whitefish Point during the storm.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, Sept. 9.—Brokers have failed in the effort to get $1.05 from Ashland, and more tonnage is going in to-day at $1. There is no other feature in the market.

LET THE GRASS GROW.

Let the grass grow over your graves of sorrow and sin and care;
Let the grass grow over your saddened shame and your misery of despair;
Let the grass grow over your long-nursed woe and the fear of that awful doubt;
Let the grass grow over the sin and the hate that brought the trouble about.

Let the flowers grow over your grave of folly and crime and fears;
Let the flowers cover the ghastly past with its beauty of better years;
Let the flowers cover the awful plan of vengeance and thought of wrong;
Let the flowers grow, let vengeance stay where vengeance doth rightly belong.

Let darkness cover your grave, let the soft years murmur by;
Let repentance break their loneliness with the sad and bitter cry;
Let affection twine, and the virtues bloom, and cover the naked sod;
Let the grass grow over the grave, my child, and leave it alone to God!

—From the Theater Magazine.

A GHASTLY GAME.

Dr. Walter Mandevill sat in his office, with a decanter and glass beside him, and a newspaper in his hand. An incredulous sneer disfigured his countenance as he read the following paragraph:

"A terrible instance of divine wrath has just startled our community. A blasphemer has been stricken down in the very act of defying the power of Heaven. The wretched unbeliever, in a moment of madness, called on his Maker to strike him dead if he dared thus assert His omnipotence, and lo! at the very instant, there came a lightning flash from the stormy sky, and smote him to the earth, a blackened corpse!"

"Ha! ha! ha!" laughed Mandevill, mockingly; "what fools and cowards men are! Because this man was the accidental victim of a natural phenomenon, his frightened fellows seize upon the coincidence to make a Providential sensation of it! Pshaw!" as he poured out a glass of wine and drained it, then throwing the journal contemptuously aside, proceeded to work upon a skeleton, which he was engaged in putting ingeniously together until far into the night.

Walter Mandevill was an infidel and a blasphemer. He laughed in the face of Providence.

Yet he was a man of talent, and the only physician of capacity in a circuit of 20 miles round the western village wherein he dwelt.

He had come to Exton ten years before, and he had wooed and wed Margaret Hart, the orphan daughter of his professional predecessor. They had as yet no children, but their mutual desire for offspring seemed now about to be realized. And it was at this very time that Mandevill's atheistic infatuation assumed the type of a monomania.

When Mandevill rose next morning his wife was too ill to follow his example. Her maternal agony had commenced, and in the evening a child was born to them.

For the ensuing week Mandevill was a most tender and devoted husband, as well as a skillful and untiring physician to his suffering wife and her scarcely less suffering infant.

But it was in vain. Retribution had seemingly begun. A fortnight passed and found him childless. A month, and he stood alone by the fresh-filled graves of all he loved on earth. Margaret and her infant were together in heaven!

This double blow should have chastened the rebellious spirit of a stricken husband and father. But it did not. On the contrary, it simply maddened him. He gave himself up henceforth to his twin idols—Satan and the Bottle! Another physician came and settled in the village. Mandevill laughed at him and scorned him, but the village folk respected and believed and welcomed him.

After five years of unavailing struggle against the new-comer, Dr. Mandevill gave up the contest, and relinquished all attempts to retain his professional practice. Having a sufficient fortune for all his wants, he devoted himself to scientific investigation, chiefly with a view to confirm his infidel creed.

So 10 years passed, and Mandevill's hair grew gray, and his eyes dim, and his gait unsteady.

At length the fame of Daguerre's discovery reached him, and while he was vaguely pursuing the study of this new art, a daguerreotypist came to Exton and set up a studio.

Dr. Walter Mandevill sat in his study one blustering day of March, with the inevitable bottle and glass beside him. His face wore an evil expression, heightened by the spirits he had drunk, and he gazed around upon his ghastly picture-gallery and cabinets with a fiendish smile.

Suddenly his eyes rested upon the skeleton he had so ingeniously jointed years ago, and a strange fancy seized upon him.

"Capital!" he exclaimed. "Life is a game, they say. Well, ha! ha! ha! I will play for mine against Fate or Providence, or whatever they choose to call it. Let me see. Yes! that will be a glorious picture. Come, old fellow (to the skeleton), we'll have a last famous game together."

Thus muttering, he took the skeleton carefully apart, wrapped it up into a compact bundle, went to a drawer of his table, took therefrom a chessboard and men, and putting the whole under his arm, strode from the house, heedless of the blast, straight to the rooms of Paul Skelter, the daguerreotypist.

The artist was alone and dozing.

"Skelter," said Mandevill, "wake up, man; I've brought you a splendid subject for a picture. Get your plates and things ready, while I arrange the group. Don't stare at me, man; but go to work. It's a joke I'm going to play, that's all."

Mandevill placed a table in the proper light, rejointed his skeleton, seated it at the table in a chair, spread the chessboard on the former, arranged the pieces in a certain manner upon it, and put a chair for himself opposite the grinning, fleshless anatomy.

When all was ready he sat down, and calling Paul's attention, said:

"I am going to try a delicate experiment; I shan't stop to explain it to you just now. You observe that these chessmen are so arranged that a single move of the black knight checkmates the white king. Well, I place the finger of this skeleton upon that black knight in such a way that the least forward motion of the said finger effects the fatal move—so you see? Now I take the white game for my own, and now—I await your readiness to take us in this very interesting position. Isn't it odd, ha?"

"I should think it was!" exclaimed Paul, staring at the tableau.

"It is impossible," said Mandevill to himself, "that this skeleton can move its finger by its own volition. I have so placed it that any jar or shock is equally impossible, unless made on purpose. So then, if there be a Divine Being, and He be omnipotent, I call upon Him to show it by moving that finger and checkmating me."

"Now!" cried Paul.

There was a few instants deadly stillness, during which Mandevill sat with a stony gaze directed over and beyond the chessboard and its fatal array.

"Done!" cried Paul, clapping the cover on the camera.

Mandevill took a long breath, and slowly turned his eyes toward the game. He fixed them first upon the grinning skull, then passed them slowly down the rigid arm, along the bony hand, over the gaunt——

"Ha! The skeleton finger has moved! I have lost, by——! ! !"

It was so. The finger had moved forward. The black knight had advanced. The white king was check-mated!

In a large mansion, pleasantly situated on the banks of a picturesque stream, amid the lofty trees and fair lawns and blooming gardens, but surrounded by a high and rugged wall of hewn stone, with great gates like those of an ancient "keep"—in this mansion are many strange and sorrowful spectacles; melancholy wrecks of human intelligence, that walk purposeless along its broad corridors, or howl wofully and wildly from its strong walled, triple barred chambers. But perhaps the saddest, most harrowing of them all is that of a man with snow white hair and feeble, trembling gait, who wanders up and down, and down and up, hall and chamber, and lawn and garden, ever and anon stopping and clenching his nerveless hands and crying, in a wailing tone:

"It moved! the Finger moved! I have lost! I have lost!"—N. Y. World.

THE BLONDE'S SECRET.

It Is Easy to be Attractive if Memory be in Condition — Why Girls Should Never Forget.

The brunette looked at the blonde carefully and wondered. It is much easier to wonder on a warm day at the seaside than it is to talk, says the New York Sun.

The brunette thought to herself, "I have sense enough to know that I am an extremely pretty woman. My nose is absolutely Grecian, my chin has the most delightful of dimples in it, and my forehead is as white as the proverbial marble, while my eyes are full, dark and expressive.

"My hair, which waves naturally, I can wear as few women do—that is to say, I can part it in the middle, draw it back, and knot it low on the neck, so that I look like an old picture.

"I am well formed. I am always well dressed.

"The blonde hasn't a correct feature in her face; her teeth are pretty, but she shows them every time she smiles, which is often; she dresses well, but she is grieving already over the fact that because she is nearly 30 her hair is beginning to darken. Yet, when we two go out together, there is one man who pays attention to me and 10 to her; women smile and bow to me, but they rush to her with delight and overwhelm her with invitations."

"Now will you kindly explain that?"

She summed up sufficient courage to say to the blonde: "What is the reason you are attractive to people?"

And the blonde answered: "First, because I never forget anything, and, second, because I am so exceedingly frank."

"You heard Mrs. Shabby-Genteel admire my blue gown this morning? Well, I laughed at her pleasantly and told her that it was a profound secret, but it cost only 19 cents a yard. I did not tell her that I paid $25 to have it made, for that would have ruined the effect of it in her eyes, and, as it is, she doesn't begrudge me the gown, and she is ready to contradict anybody who calls me extravagant.

"Then, if I meet a man I make a mental photograph of him and what he is doing, or what he is interested in at the time of the introduction, so that if I meet him 10 years after and somebody starts to present him anew, I can put out my hand and say: 'I know Mr. Gordon very well indeed, though probably he has forgotten me. I remember meeting him some years ago, and we had quite a talk about the breed of his fox terrier.'

"Mr. Gordon is charmed at my memory, and is my slave from that time on.

"He may even go so far as to patronize me because he thinks his image was impressed on my heart when no other man's was, but that sort of a thing never troubles, it only amuses me.

"I try to remember what a man's politics are, what he likes to eat, and what part of the country he comes from, for I don't want to talk about the charm of the north to a man from 'way down south in Dixie, and I don't want to dilate on the advantages of the land where the magnolia blooms to a man from the far west.

"You may think this remembering is difficult, but it isn't. It simply gets to be a habit."

Just then a party of men came by, and the brunette saw how it worked, for somebody started to introduce the handsomest man of the lot to the blonde when she interrupted and said: "Thank you, I don't need any introduction to Mr. Stuart; I came from Baltimore, and from the time I was a girl at school not to know the handsome Stuarts was equivalent to not being in the swim."

Later in the day, when the brunette was looking out her window she saw the blonde on the box seat of Mr. Stuart's four-in-hand, and she thought to herself: "What a good thing it is to have a good memory!"

And the waves came in one after another singing something that sounded exactly like "Annie Laurie."

A FAR-SIGHTED YOUNG MAN.

Shippen Clarke—Why do you give so expensive jewelry to your fiancee?

Cashin Hand—I do it from economical motives.

Shippen Clarke—How's that?

Cashin Hand—If I spent money on the theaters, oyster suppers, candy and the like it would be sunken capital, but after we are married I shall be able to raise money on that jewelry.—Puck.

TO REMOVE GRASS STAINS.

Hilow—No, she has promised to be a sister to me, though.—Detroit Free Press.

WHY.

Guest—Tell me candidly, waiter, why do you recommend lobsters so enthusiastically?

Waiter—Well, you see, if there is any lobster left over to-day we waiters will get them to-morrow for dinner, and we have had 'em on hand about a week already.—Texas Siftings.

In Paint the best is cheapest—
Strictly Pure White Lead
is best; properly applied it will not scale, chip, chalk, or rub off; it firmly adheres to the wood and forms a permanent base for repainting. Paints which peel or scale have to be removed by scraping or burning before satisfactory repainting can be done.
Be sure that you have only strictly pure White Lead. The following brands have a reputation established, they are standard, and well known.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Toledo Natural Gas Trustees at their office, 408 Superior street, Toledo, Ohio, until 12 o'clock, noon, on

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20TH, 1892,

for furnishing and setting, together with all necessary connections, enclosed under suitable buildings, to be erected on the main gas line, at such point as the Natural Gas Trustees may designate.

Six or more one hundred horse power boilers.

Two or more gas pumping engines, with twenty-four inch steam cylinders; twenty-four inch gas cylinders, and thirty-inch stroke.

One feed water heater, of suitable size.

Two or more boiler feed pumps.

One electric light plant of sufficient capacity to properly light said pumping station.

Also the drilling of one or more water wells, and the construction of a reservoir, or tanks, to contain the water necessary for the operation of the above pumping station.

Also such other machinery and appliances as may be necessary for the completion of such pumping station.

All bidders must furnish copies of plans and specifications, to be on file at the office of the Natural Gas Trustees.

The work bid for must be begun as soon as the contract is awarded, and bidders must specify time in which they will complete the work, which must be within sixty days from its commencement.

Bidders must guarantee a gas pumping station, complete and in operation, capable of delivering fifteen million cubic feet of natural gas per day, through a ten-inch pipe line, at the City of Toledo.

Bids will be received for part or all of the work advertised.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to accept bids for all or any part of said work.

By Order of the Board.
REYNOLD VOIT, Vice President.

SLOW IN COMING IN.

The Million Signatures Are Lacking.

The Prohibition Party Will Not Be Able to Secure the Signatures Wanted.

New York, Sept. 9.—There are hardly any prospects that the prohibition party will be successful in obtaining its one million of signatures to the agreement by which each signer pledges himself to vote for the candidate of the prohibition party for president and vice president, provided the signatures of a million voters can be secured to the agreement.

Great store has been placed in this scheme by the leaders of the prohibition party, and at the national convention in Cincinnati last July, the opinon was freely expressed that this agreement would provide a way by which the prohibition element could capture the nation, and that if one million voters could be induced to band together at the ballot box in hostility to the legalization of the drunkard making and to all parties upholding it, the crack of doom to the legalized liquor traffic would be sounded.

Whether, however, on account of the diverting of the minds of the voters by the tariff and force bill arguments, or by the incipient cholera scare, it is certain that the inflow of signed agreements during the past month or two has not only not been equal to expectations, but has not been up to the average of the early part of the year, and unless the cold water advocates bestir themselves in an unwonted degree, and prohibition sentiment stock takes a sullen boom, the committee on audits, which includes in its membership Gen. Wager Swayne and ex-Mayor Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, will not be called upon, this campaign at least, to sacrifice their time and patience in examining and attesting to the bona fide character of a million of signatures.

RAPID TRANSIT.

Wanamaker and His Department.

Inventors of the Pneumatic Tubes Explaining Their Devices in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—A big pile pile of sealed envelopes covered the table in the office of the postmaster general this morning. Their contents were replies to the invitation issued by the department to owners and patentees of pneumatic tubes or other devices calculated to afford rapid transmission of mail matter between large cities and between postoffice stations and transportation terminals, and to furnish the department with full descriptions of such devices, together with a statement of the evidence of title to or ownership of same, the description to state the kind and quantity of motive power to be used, the method of its application, the capacity of the tube or device, and also an offer to submit to a test, and a proposal to license or lease such invention to the United States, to sell such invention to the United States as a purchaser.

The period within which applications could be received expired last night, and judging from the voluminous character of this particular portion of the postmaster-general's mail, about every inventor of a rapid mail process has responded. It is proposed to experiment at an early date with the various systems submitted, the experiments to take place either in Chicago, New York, Washington or Brooklyn. The tests will be at the expense of the inventor, and all propositions and the result of all experiments will be reported to congress, which alone has power to adopt any particular system.

SIR EDWIN.

He is Welcome to His Ideas on Cholera.

New York, Sept. 9.—Sir Edwin Arnold, the famous poet, politician and journalist, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon after a six weeks' sojourn in Japan.

When seen at the Windsor last night he said he expected to sail for England next Wednesday on the steamship City of New York.

"When I learned that Mr. Gladstone was in power," he said, "I felt that I must get back and save the kingdom."

"I see," said Sir Edwin, "that I have been misquoted regarding Mr. Blaine. What I said was that it was unstatesmanlike in him to suggest, and unworthy of a great nation to close this country's ports against the world because of the prevalence of cholera abroad. I don't believe in your quarantine. If it is to come, it will come anyhow. My own preventive, which I used in India with best results, is five drops of hydrochloric acid in a cup of tea.

"I have been much interested in the fight at New Orleans. I think this advance in pugilism augurs well for the future of America. Anything that tends to do away with the revolver is a blessing."

WHITEHOUSE NOTES.

Whitehouse, Sept. .—(Special)—The Misses Bennie and Mattie Black were in Toledo Tuesday.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jones will learn with regret that they will soon leave for Deshler, where Mr. Jones is engaged in teaching school. They will carry with them the warmest regards of hosts of friends here who will sincerely regret their departure.

Mrs. Franklin is visiting her daughter in Detroit for a few weeks.

Mrs. Gottlieb Bucher will start for Fremont, Ind., Saturday to visit a friend.

Mrs. Wm. Demuth and Mrs. C. M. King were in Waterville the last part of the week.

Mr. Will Lahr and bride were in Toledo Monday.

Mrs. Hattie Killen returned home Saturday from Toledo after having a pleasant visit with friends.

HELD UP A TRAIN

Highwaymen Do a Job and Get no Money.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 9.—The southbound Texas express, No. 403, on the Santa Fe road, was held up at Wharton, I. T., a few miles from Guthrie, by five masked men at 10:45 o'clock last night.

They took the safe from the express car, but secured no booty. When the train reached Wharton two robbers took charge of the engineer, while others attacked the express car and still others intimidated the passengers. They kept up an almost incessant firing from their revolvers.

Messenger Wagoner of the Wells-Fargo Express company was overpowered and the men took charge of the safe, throwing it out of the car. They then spent 25 minutes trying to force iit open, and, being unsuccessful, rode away firing their pistols and yelling.

TO VISIT BUFFALO.

DAYS OF '49.

A High Old Time Being Held in the City of Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The California pioneers of '4 and '50, with their wives and children, are holding high carnival—or just as high as their age will permit—at Jackson park to-day in celebration of the forty-second anniversary of the admission of California as a state.

The Mexican veterans now residing in the city, as well as a good many Californians and ex-Californians, whose memories carry them back to the stirring days of '49, are also participating in the festivities.

At the round-up this afternoon for speeches and reminiscences President Campbell used a gavel made of historic wood.

One piece came from the root of a tree which once flourished at a place formerly known as Maryville, but now called Placerville, and the branches of which were utilized for the first two lynchings in the state, while the other piece came from a tree at Suttersville where gold was first discovered.

WILL DECORATE.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The business and residence portions of Chicago are to be elaborately decorated during the period occupied by the world's fair dedicatory exercises in October, and to this end a conference of representative men and others has been called for this evening. This edecoration will be preparatory to that which will beautify the city next year, and will be useful as affording an example of what it is proposed to do in the way of making Chicago present an appearance equal to fairy land.

GRAND JURY WORK.

Wapakoneta, O., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The grand jury of this county (Auglaize) found the following indictments: Harrison, Abe, Alford, Cyrus and Lefrana Gossard, riot; Alferd Gossard, assault and battery; Mary Katterheinrich, keeping a house of ill-fame; G. G. Landis, horse stealing; Henry Groh, horse stealing; Oswell Johnson, assault and battery; James Adams, assault and battery. Three additional indictments, but not yet arrested.

KILLED A BURGLAR.

Vienna, Sept. 9.—Kammerer, the son of the senior partner in the firm of Kammerer & Fitzjames, iron founders in the gardenstrasse, who was accused of having killed a burglar at Mauer, near this city, has been released, the police finding that Kammerer was not to blame.

ADLAI AT WORK.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 9.—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, accompanied by a number of members of the state committee, left Anderson early this morning for Clay City, where he addressed a large audience at noon. To-night he will speak to the miners at Brazil.

DR. WHITE'S WILL.

Upper Sandusky, O., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The will of Dr. J. W. White, which was filed to-day, is somewhat of a surprise. He wills all of his possessions, amounting to about $15,000, to Miss Hattie Smoots, a handsome young lady who has shared his home for some years past.

THE METROPOLITAN.

New York, Sept. 9.—Whether or not the Metropolitan opera house, which was recently destroyed by fire, shall be rebuilt will be decided at a meeting of the stockholders this evening.

SHOT HIS WIFE.

Brooklyn, Sept. 9.—Ed Geoghan fired five shots from a revolver at his wife in the house of her mother. The woman's wounds will probably prove fatal. The couple had not been living together for some time.

FOR CONGRESS.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 9.—Hosea W. Parker, of Claremont, was to-day nominated for congress by the democrats of the second district.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 9.—The five-story brick factory at 102 Adelaide street, west, occupied by several manufacturing firms, was badly gutted by fire this morning. The loss will probably reach $40,000.

DIED IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 9.—The Right Rev. Timothy Mahoney, auxiliary bishop of the Arch-diocese of Toronto, died this morning after a short illness. The funeral will take place on Saturday.

CLEVELAND FIRE.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 9.—The Academy of Music on Bank street, was totally destroyed by fire yestedray afternoon.

HADAWAY DEAD.

New York, Sept. 9.—Thomas H. Hadaway, who was known to the theatrical profession as the oldest actor in this country, died of valvular disease of the heart on Wednesday at the home of his son-in-law, Wm. A. Senior, in Montgomery, N. Y., aged 91 years.

On Sunday, Sept. 11, the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw railway will run its last excursion of the season from Toledo to Devil's Lake at the low rate of 75 cents for the round trip; after that date the Sunday train service between Toledo and Addison will be discontinued.

Heiskell's Ointment
Is a positive cure for all forms of
SKIN DISEASE.
We base this assertion on our observation of over thirty years, in which time a very large number and variety of Skin Diseases have been reported to us as cured, by the simple use of Heiskell's Ointment, without the aid of internal remedies. Many of these were cases of long duration, that had resisted the treatment of the most eminent medical talent in this and other countries. GROVER CLEVELAND.

He Takes a Trip to New York City.

He Feels Confident That the Election This Fall Will Favor the Democrats.

New York, Sept. 9.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland arrived in this city from Buzzard's Bay this morning on the Fall River boat Pilgrim. He was accompanied by Don M. Dickinson, chairman of the democratic national campaign committee, who went to Gray Gables for the express purpose of inducing Mr. Cleveland to accompany him here to confer with prominent democrats of this city and other states interested in the campaign. He was driven directly to the Victoria hotel.

It was announced at the Victoria that Mr. Cleveland intended remaining in New York until Saturday. After noon Lawyer Jefferson Levy came down from Mr. Cleveland's apartments where he had been for some time. He said he found the ex-president very confident about the prospects of democratic success this fall.

At 12:30 Chairman Harrity and Secretary Smalley arrived at the Victoria and were immediately shown to Mr. Cleveland's rooms. Other callers were W. C. Whitney and Frederick Coon.

Mr. Whitney, in explaining the reason for Mr. Cleveland's visit at this interesting moment, said that it was not the result of any conference held at democratic headquarters. It was simply one of the many trips that Mr. Cleveland had contemplated to this city for some time. These visits would occur during the campaign.

A MOTHER

Tries DR. HAND'S COLIC CURE and Secures Rest After Three Sleepless Nights

MARLBORO, Ohio, April 14, 1892.
The Hand Medicine Co.
DEAR SIRS:—Having used nearly four bottles of your Colic Cure, I forward you this testimonial, hoping it may benefit many mothers with suffering babies. I am the happy mother of triplets, all girls; now 14 weeks old. When they were about 3 weeks old they were taken with a very severe attack of wind colic. There were three days and nights I had two of them in my arms nearly all the time. I tried all the remedies I had ever heard of without any relief. A sample of your Colic Cure was handed me, which I used with the very best results, and I sent for more at once and I shall recommend it to every mother. I feel there is no language strong enough to express its value. I have also used several of the other Remedies and found each to be exactly as you represented them to be. I trust the Lord will forever bless you for procuring a remedy to relieve suffering innocence.

JOLLY TAR PLUG CHEWING TOBACCO
CATCHES THEM ALL
READ THE FOLLOWING.
"I CHEW JOLLY TAR because it gives me more good, solid Tobacco for the money than I can get in any other brand."
The Carpenter.
"JOLLY TAR suits me and I mean to stick to it. It is the largest and best piece of Tobacco I have ever been able to find."
The Bricklayer.
"I KNOW a good thing when I see it. JOLLY TAR fills the bill. It gives both quantity and quality." The Blacksmith.
"WHEN I chew I want the best. I have tied to JOLLY TAR and could not be induced to change." The Engineer.
"I AM of the same opinion as Bill. JOLLY TAR is king of them all." The Fireman.
"WE fellows want the most for our money always. JOLLY TAR gives it to us in good Chewing Tobacco. It is our stand-by."
The Printer.
AND THUS THEY ALL SAY. "JOLLY TAR IS A GENERAL FAVORITE.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION.

The Recipe for Thieves' Vinegar, a Cholera Preventative, is Given.

Apropos of the cholera epidemic in Europe and the fears entertained in our own homes, it may be interesting to give a few details in regard to what was done in years gone with respect to the plague, says the New York World.

The disease appears to be indigenous to India, and there is no way of fixing its time of birth. It traveled from Bengal in every direction in 1817, but did not get a foothold on the American continent until 1832. Again it appeared in 1834, 1849, 1850, 1851 and 1852. The year 1866 was the last of the truly great cholera epidemics in the United States, and it was at this period that we learned how to prevent the spread of the disease.

Prior to this it seems that all measures had been directed towards treatment and little towards the prevention of the dissemination of the disease. In 1866, however, preventive and remedial measures were used with such potency as to stamp out the plague from the United States and it has never attained any prominence among us since that time.

In the great plague of London, in 1848-49, in which the cases numbered thousands, it took a year to stamp out the disease. During this period, and it is to this in particular that your attention is directed, London was vacated by all those who could afford to get out of town, but was infested by thieves who robbed both the living and the dead.

Tradition has it that these marauders preserved a peculiar immunity from the disease and that one of them, being caught pilfering, made a confession as to the methods he employed to keep himself free from contagion. This consisted in the use of a preparation called thieves' vinegar, and a very old book of recipes gives the following directions for its preparation:

"Take a large handful of lavendar blossoms and the same quantity of sage, mint, rue, wormwood and rosemary. Chop and mix them well. Put them in a jar with half an ounce of camphor that has been dissolved in a little alcohol and pour in three quarts of strong, clear vinegar. Keep the jar for two or three weeks in the hot sun, and at night put it in a box of sand. Afterward strain and bottle the liquid, putting into each bottle a sliced garlic clove. Keep it tightly corked.

Sprinkle it about the rooms and use it in washing the body.

It is a noticeable fact that these notorious thieves did not suffer from cholera; and, although they robbed those who died of the disease, they themselves did not suffer.

All of this may be attributed, in a measure, to the precautions which they took in using their antiseptic preparation; and there cannot be a doubt that their recipe was a good one. It may be greatly simplified—all that is necessary being spirits of camphor in which you may put some spices, say thyme, sage and cloves. It may be advised that you take an ordinary milk bottle and in this put a pint of spirits of camphor. Add some cloves, some dried thyme and sage. The proportions are really not essential. When the odor of each ingredient is apparent, that will suffice.

LIGHTING LIBERTY.

Bartholdi's Statue to Have a Practical as Well as Sentimental Use.

It was always intended that the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor should serve more than a sentimental purpose, and while being a beacon of liberty, also a lighthouse of value to mariners. For such a useful purpose, however, the statue has been a failure, says Harper's Weekly.

Some time ago Maj. Heap of the Engineer Corps of the army was asked to design a method by which the statue could be properly lighted, and therefore serve the utilitarian purposes as well as the sentimental.

Maj. Heap has just reported to the lighthouse board, and proposed that the present lights of about 2,000-candle power be so treated that a belt of flame shall be seen instead of the small portion as at present. "The effect I desire to produce," says Maj. Heap, "is a powerful white light in the focal plane, and a beam of colored light seen by reflection from the haze or dust in the air, so that the general appearance shall be somewhat like a flame."

In the head of the statue, over the forehead, is a coronet consisting of 25 windows. In front of each window Maj. Heap proposes to place two 100-candle power incandescent lamps, protected from the weather in glazed lanterns, the backs of which shall be reflectors.

At the present the statue, owing to its dark color, is invisible at night, as the reflected light from the lamps in the salients of the fort is too feeble to be seen at any distance. To partially overcome this, Maj. Heap proposes to place an arc light of 200-candle power under the balcony of the torch, with a reflector throwing the light directly on the head. This beam of light will be so powerful and will be so near the head that the latter will probably be visible to vessels passing close to the statue.

IT WASN'T OUR MARY.

Two Girls Went Into Raptures Over Her Acting, Though.

It is the delight of travelers abroad to pause at the garden gate of Mary Anderson's foreign home, hoping to catch a glimpse of "Our Mary" as she looks, now that she is domesticated and off the boards forever.

Two American women who live in New York went traveling, and, in their plans for sight-seeing, they included a visit to Mary Anderson's home, says the World.

"I believe that is Mary Anderson, now," whispered one of the tourists as she and her companion alighted and walked up to the lattice of the gate. "She is walking out for her daily constitutional. I remember reading in the papers that 'Mary Anderson walks out of doors for one hour daily.' How fortunate we are to have found her."

"Sh-sh, keep still," whispered the other one. "She is coming this way. Now! Look! She is staring right at us. Oh, see! She is waving her hand!"

"Yes, and she's beckoning. Oh! oh! Ought we to go in? And now she is throwing kisses. I'll tell you what it is, she is rehearsing for a new play. And she is going back on the stage after all. Isn't it a privilege just to see her rehearse. She thinks no one is seeing her. Oh, it was worth a trip all the way here just for this moment! Oh, see her! See her!"

The two friends gazed delightfully at the rehearsal until one of them, with eyesight a little sharper than the other, became suspicious. Turning her head and giving one backward glance, she turned to her companion, seized her arm and said:

"What geese we are! That isn't Mary Anderson at all. It's a tall girl with regular features, but it isn't Mary. It is her maid, most likely. And she is not rehearsing for a new play. She is only flirting with our coachman. Let's go back to London."

OF INTEREST TO ATHLETES.

James Robinson, the athletic trainer at Princeton College, Princeton, N. J., says: "I have found it imperative to have sure and simple remedies on hand in case of cuts, bruises, strains, sprains, colds, rheumatism, etc. Shortly after entering my profession, I discovered such a remedy in Allcock's Porous Plasters. I tried other plasters, but found them too harsh and irritating. Allcock's Porous Plasters give almost instantaneous relief, and their strengthening power is remarkable. In cases of weak back put two plasters on the small of the back and in a short time you will be capable of quite severe exercise. In "sprint" and "distance" races and jumping, the muscles or tendons in the legs and feet sometimes weaken. This can invariably be relieved by cutting the plaster in narrow strips, so as to give free motion, and applying on muscles affected."

PERFECTLY PAINLESS.

Patient—Ouch! Murder! Fire! I thought you said you were a painless dentist?

Dentist—Well, so I am. Do you observe any extraordinary facial contractions that would lead you to the belief that I am in pain?—Exchange.

SET THE BOY THINKING.

Mr. Marks—Well, my little man, what do you intend to do when you grow up to be a man?

Little Man—I did intend to be an actor, but my mother wouldn't let me.

Mr. Marks—Did you practice walking a good deal?

Little Man—No, sir, I read.

Mr. Marks—Oh, well, walking is one of the things an actor must be up in.—Boston Democrat.

TO KEEP THE HAIR IN CURL.

Girls who are complaining that salt air, high winds, perspiration, or any of the various despoiling causes have taken their hair out of curl should remember that if they fan their bangs, after frizzing with an iron until all the heat has left them they will remain intact three times as long as if left to cool gradually.

FOR THE OHIO STATE FAIR.

The Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railway will sell special excursion tickets from all its stations at half rates. Tickets will be sold September 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, good returning until the 17th. This is the popular line to Columbus, and the only one running parlor cars between Toledo and Columbus.

THE TRUE LAXATIVE PRINCIPLE

Of the plants used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions, usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

The officials of the Chinese empire are divided into nine different grades or classes, distinguishable from one another by the button worn on the cap.

NEVER LEARNED TO SPEAK.

That is, to Speak Correctly—Voices That Shorten Men's Lives by Their Aggressiveness.

Then we talked! That voice so cadenced
In the talking
Made another singing—of the soul!
A music without bars—

The Persian poet, Saadi, tells us that a person with a disagreeable voice was reading the Koran aloud, when a holy man, passing by, asked what was his monthly stipend. He answered, "Nothing at all." "But why then do you take so much trouble?" He replied, "I read for the sake of God." The other rejoined, "for God's sake, do not read; for if you read the Koran in this manner you will destroy the splendor of Islamism."

Emerson relates the foregoing, and I quote it as a fair exemplification of the effect produced by a harsh discordant voice, even if the most charming thoughts, beautifully expressed, be the theme. And what says Oliver Wendell Holmes, the genial "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," than whom no gentler critic ever lived:

"The great trouble—with the charming American girl—s with her voice. It is pitched a full note too high. It is aggressive, disturbing, and would wear out a nervous man without his ever knowing what was the matter with him."

In his usual humorus way, Dr. Holmes thinks that a very sensitive man would live from two to three years longer with a woman who has a very agreeable voice, round, mellow and cheery, with a charming articulation, than with the other.

The evil begins where most evils do, says Emma I. McLagan, in the Boston Globe, in the cradle, or as soon as the child is able to make its wants known. How often we hear the baby of 3 yelling, literally, not crying, but simply voicing its mirth in ear-splitting sounds; screaming its replies to the simplest questions; shrieking its joys alike with its anger; using the highest pitched tones its lungs can command in its plays.

And the school-boy, "speaking a piece," what painful efforts and experiments he tries with his vocal organs. He soars "to heights unsustainable by human throat and insupportable human ear . . . . " and he becomes lost to all save the consciousness of "making a noise," and the effect, like that of the Persian's reading, is to destroy the splendor of his discourse.

The old Greek set it down as an axiom that a loud and harsh voice betokens bad breeding, and classed a soft sweetness of tone with personal beauty.

It is a grave mistake to imagine that perfect habits of speech are natural. Ruskin calls elocution a "moral faculty," and says that "no one is fit to be the head of a children's school who is not both by nature and attention a beautiful speaker." A diploma with a special medal for the softest, most musical rendering of prose and poetry in speech, not song, might be beneficially granted upon commencement day, and in time our pretty maids from school and our jeunesse doree would charm eye and ear equally.

The gaudy peacock, trailing his gorgeous plumage in splendid array, with iridescent colors flashing jewel-like in the rays of the sun, has been for all time the symbol of discordance in voice and appearance, and so it is when children's rosy lips deafen us with shrill, penetrating, perturbing cries.

Full, vigorous health gives richness and volume to the voice; there is a generous "ring" to the tones of a perfectly healthy set of vocal organs that is a fair criterion of the general physical condition.

There are 600,000,000 of air cells in the lungs of a full-grown man, and if the blood courses through the veins, rich with pure, fresh oxygen from perfect respiration, the voice becomes "indeed the organ of the soul!" Athenian youths were trained as elaborately as a race-horse in the present day and generation for their calling of orators, and their perfection of physique was a natural result.

As a means of beautifying our sons and daughters we should give them the advantage of knowing how to use the vocal chords; teach them the value of perfect inhalation, and how to utter those sweet, melodious sounds that charm the list'ning ear.

Children should not be allowed to fall into the singing habit of reciting: this tone proceeds from the larynx, which can be as well made by an India-rubber larynx, being nothing more than a "squawk." It lacks the fine, resonant power, "the human and mind-expressing qualities of the tone that is given by the sympathetic resonance of the cavities of the head and chest."

An authority on voice culture gives the following simple directions which any child can comprehend and practice intelligently:

Whisper he word "up" rather vigorously. If you hear a sound as of a bubble of air being burst, there is too much stiffness in the larynx. If the sound becomes aspirated, the cockney's "hup" is produced. But if the sound comes clear and distinct, without aspiration or broken bubbles, there is reason to believe you have produced the tone properly.

It is reprehensible in teachers to permit children to stand or sit with bent shoulders and downcast head while reciting or studying. For the few hours of school, at least, the child should be taught how to fill its lungs and send forth its breath.

Scores of ologies and isms are doubtless very essential to our sweet girl graduates and youthful Ph. Ds., M. Ds., LL. Ds., etc., but a healthy pair of lungs, with the deep, rich, sonorous utterance of trained vocal organs will be much more useful to them in treading the thorny way of life.

The vitality given by a perfect oxygenation of the blood increases the power of mental as well as physical application: so, from a strictly educational point of view, our children gain by being taught how to breathe and speak correctly.

It is quite as important to attend to the enunciation as to the quality of the sound. No nation in the civilized world speaks its language so abominably as the English. Familiar conversation is carried on in inarticulate smudges of sound which are allowed to pass current for something as worn-out shillings are accepted as representatives of 12 pence. When English people begin to study singing they are astonished to find that they have never learned to speak.
